9 INDICTED BY JURY TO FACE COURT MONDAY

Three Former Public Employes Charged With Embezzling Free on Bonds.

JOKES WITH SHERIFF

Ports Cheerful as Both He and Erdenberger Appear at Court Voluntarily.

Nine persons indicted yesterday in a special session of the county grand jury, including three former public employes who were charged with embezzlement, are scheduled for arraignment before Judge C. H. Huston at 9 a. m. Monday.

All of the defendants had been served with indictments today. Five of them were in the county jail and four were free under bond.

Indicted on embezzlement counts were Allen K. Ports, 31, former Mansfield municipal court clerk; Russell K. Erdenberger, dimissed tax collector for the Mansfield conservancy district, and A. F. Marvin, former clerk of the village of Plymouth.

Provide Property Bonds.

All three are free under bond. Ports and Erdenberger provided property bonds immediately after they were served with indictments late yesterday at the courthouse. Marvin's $2,500 bond, furnished more than a month ago when he was arraigned on an embezzlement charge, was continued.

Ports' bond, set at $3,500 by Judge Huston, was signed by Mrs. Celinda R. Barnes, 180 Marion avenue, and Ports himself. Signing Erdenberger's $2,000 bond were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Erdenberger, and his aunt, Lillie A. Hoffman.

Get Notice By Phone.

Ports and Erdenberger, both of whom were dismissed after state examiners' reports revealed shortages in their accounts, appeared voluntarily at the courthouse yesterday evening at the request of Sheriff Long who informed them of the indictments by telephone.

The sheriff served them with indictments and placed them under arrest and they went immediately into the office of Clerk of Courts Fred R. Zellner to arrange bonds. Within an hour after the grand jury reported at 5:15 p. m., they had provided bond and returned to their homes.

Appearing at the courthouse with his father, J. Earl Ports, and Mrs. Barnes, Ports was cheerful and talked freely with authorities about the indictment. He joked

IN CHICAGO

Loudonville Ex-Banker Writes He's 'Very Sick Man.'

A part of the mystery surrounding the disappearance on Feb. 19 of M. H. Spreng, recently resigned vice president of the Farmers and Savings bank of Loudonville, was cleared yesterday when members of his family received a letter from him.

The letter said that he was in a Chicago hotel and was, according to members of his family, "a very sick man." It was believed that the former banker was on the verge of a nervous breakdown when he left his home in Loudonville. He was also suffering from a chronic organic ailment.

Previous communications from Spreng had been postmarked Dayton and Indianapolis, but gave no indication where he planned to go.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates said today that he had been notified that members of the family had heard from Spreng in Chicago, but that details of the communication had not been made public.

Unit of Finance Group Confers on Request for $300,000 in Improvements.

Proposed improvements at the Ohio State reformatory totaling more than $300,000 moved a step nearer today as a group of state legislators met at the institution to look over present equipment.

Members of the welfare section of the house finance committee arrived at the reformatory at noon and were to confer with Supt. Arthur L. Glattke on requests made by him for new buildings and equipment at the institution.

Glattke said that he expected to go over the requests submitted to the state welfare department last December which included several new buildings on the farm and additional machinery and equipment in the institution proper.

It was believed that members of the committee would be taken on a tour of the various buildings in order to gain first hand knowledge of the needs outlined to them.

No action will be taken by the group while they are here but the report is expected to guide them in preparing the budget for the state board of control.

PEN'S 'CROOKED GUARDS' TO GO, AMRINE WARNS

New Shake-up Indicated After Woodard's Suspension; Quiz at Prison Continues.

HE'LL FIGHT OUSTER

Warden Declares Resignation Would Admit Guilt, Plans to Hire Attorney.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Additional changes in the administrative personnel of Ohio penitentiary appeared imminent today as William F. Amrine, state superintendent of corrections, continued his investigation of prison management which already has resulted in the suspension of Warden James C. Woodard and two of his aids.

Serving as temporary warden by order of Welfare Director Charles Sherwood, Amrine declared flatly that several "crooked guards" were to be removed in Sherwood's announced effort to improve "discipline and morale" and to eliminate "unwarranted condiitons" at the penitentiary.

Two Stay on Jobs.

Under 30-day suspension, along with Warden Woodard, were his son, James, jr., a guard, and Deputy Warden William J. Walker. Amrine said he had ordered August Ptak, another deputy warden, to "carry on" his duties and indicated that Dan Bonzo, prison record clerk, would be retained in that position.

Sherwood inferred that removal charges would be filed against Woodard if the warden did not resign before the end of his suspension period.

Woodard, however, declared he had no intention of resigning.

"If I did, it would look like I was guilty of something," he said. "I will get an attorney and fight it."

'Clean-up' Ordered.

Ordering the investigation five weeks ago, Sherwood said there were persistent reports of favoritism, purchased privileges and liquor and narcotic traffic inside the prison walls. He ordered Warden Woodard to clean up "the mess" or be fired. Amrine was appointed to direct the inquiry.

Woodard, the 30th head of the 105-year-old midtown institution, succeeded Preston E. Thomas as warden March 1, 1935. He was a deputy warden for 22 years before that.

The warden, his son and Walker would be reinstated to their positions automatically if removal

Taft announced he would ask first that the fund be reduced to one-tenth its present size, explaining:

"Secretary Morgenthau testified that the treasury never has used more than $200,000,000 of the fund."

He referred to Morgenthau's appeal yesterday to a senate banking subcommittee for an extension of monetary powers until Jan. 15, 1941.

Economy Issue In Foreground As Roosevelt Speeds Homeward

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — A demand from Senator Harrison (D., Miss.) for drastic government economy brought the spending issue to the foreground today as President Roosevelt was returning from naval maneuvers to begin the seventh year of his administration.

The congressional arguments over spending and foreign policies, along with the administration drive to improve business through co-operative efforts of industry, government and labor, will furnish the chief executive with his most pressing problems during the next few weeks.

He may outline his views on them when he addresses the 150th anniversary session of congress shortly after his return tomorrow morning.

Congressmen said the occasion, exactly six years after his first inauguration, would offer him an unprecedented forum for discussing current issues. Gathered in the house chamber will be not only senators and representatives but also virtually every high government official and 100 diplomats representing 54 countries.

The program, including addresses by Speaker Bankhead, Senator Pittman (D., Nev), and Chief Justice Hughes, will be broadcast nationally at noon.

While the general expectation was that Mr. Roosevelt would em-

In addition to Bates the list includes Capt. T. M. Bell, Capt. John Miller, Capt. Jesse Schwab and Lieut. C. J. Kalstein.

The chief said that the Police Recreation club had agreed to pay the cost of financing surety bonds which he hopes to obtain so the applications can be sent to the secretary of state at Columbus for final approval.

He contends that by notarizing the officers sworn statements can be taken from witnesses involved in traffic accidents and a more "concrete" case can be presented in court.

7,236 GET PENSIONS

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The railroad retirement board is distributing $456,049 in monthly pensions to 7,236 Ohioans, it announced today.

SPURS CROSSING GUARD DEMANDS

Utilities Commission Reminds B. & O. of Its Order for Flasher Signals.

Action on Mayor Claude M. Hunter's year-old demand for the installation of a flasher signal by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at the Bowman street grade crossing was instituted today by the state utilities commission at Columbus.

While Hunter today said that he had not yet received a reply to a letter sent to the commission three weeks ago, it was learned that the commission had called the railroad's attention to an order issued early in 1938, allowing them nine months in which to make the installation.

The mayor in a letter to the safety division of the commission called attention to the fact that the board in January, 1938 had ordered the railroad to install the flasher within 90 days, later granting an extension of six months.

Hunter's communication cited the lapse of time beyond the limits granted the railroad. He pointed out that the grade was still unprotected and that lives of persons using the crossing were being "jeopardized" until the light was installed.

Agitation for protection at the crossing was first started in January, 1938 by Hunter following a fatal automobile-train accident.

It has also been pointed out to the commission on numerous occasions that while the Bowman street crossing is the only one without any protection that there are five other grades in the city that are only partially protected.

Solons Cool On Parking Meter Plan

Favor Shelving Measure, Feel Drive Has Solved Traffic Problem.

City council today had cooled off apparently on the parking meter idea as the solution to Mansfield's parking problem. Indications were that a measure authorizing the installation of the machines which was to come up at two previous meetings would be shelved Tuesday night.

It was the consensus of councilmen today that the police department's current traffic enforcement campaign has eliminated the all-day parking trouble and brought about the solution for which the meters were intended.

A poll of councilmen today showed that eight members, while not opposed to the installation of the parking meters, were in favor of shelving the bill which is scheduled to come up for final action Tuesday.

James E. Crum, chairman of council's special committee on parking meters, was the only member who could not be reached. He was out of the city on business and was not expected back until tomorrow.

Back To Committee.

Several councilmen have tentatively agreed to have a motion introduced Tuesday night to have the measure turned back to the committee for further study.

This would save the bill from defeat and would leave the way open for the committee to re-introduce it at any future meeting.

Councilmen who declined to allow the use of their names said the measure held in the hands of the committee could be used at any time as an alternative to the lack of enforcement.

Mayor Claude M. Hunter who called for the installation of the meters after business leaders recommended them because of what they charged was "lax enforcement," said today that he did not believe that the machines were necessary at the present time.

"While I am not opposed to their installation, I am of the opinion that the creation of the 'cycle patrol' has brought about the results which the merchants had sought several months ago," the mayor said.

With the tabling of the parking meter measure due Tuesday night, council will be asked to transfer

NEW REGIME?

Franco Hears Foes of Negrin Forming New Government.

AVILA, Spain—(AP)—The Spanish Nationalists have received reports that republican leaders opposed to Premier Juan Negrin are attempting to form a new government in Madrid.

The Nationalists regard this situation as holding the possibility of unconditional surrender which Generalissimo Franco has demanded as an alternative to a Nationalist offensive against the Madrid-Valencia-Alicante zone.

The leaders of the so-called republican dissidents are said to be opposed to Communists, which form much of Negrin's support, and to represent a large part of Madrid's population which Nationalists said had been calling for "bread or surrender."

Gandhi Opens New 'Fast Unto Death' In Fresh Protest

RAJKOT, India—(AP)—Mohandas K. Gandhi sipped a cup of hot goat's milk today and then foreswore food in a hunger strike to obtain administrative reforms for the inhabitants of the tiny native state of Rajkot.

He said it would be a "fast unto death" unless the native ruler, Thakore Saheb Shri Dharmendrasinjhi, gave the people "a voice in the government."

Even as the tottering Indian nationalist leader and holy man began his fast, serious communal rioting brought death to two persons in Lucknow, 700 miles from Rajkot.

The town of Rajkot lies in the interior of Kathiawar peninsula, 110 miles west of Cambay. It is famous for its dyes.

Gandhi accused Thakore Saheb of breaking a promise to introduce democratic reforms in Rajkot. An hour and a half after Gandhi started fasting the native ruler maintained his stand in a letter to the nationalist leader.

John Simpson Descendants At School Ground-Breaking

While steam shovels and trucks cleaned up the last of what was once the old John Simpson Junior high school, some 50 school officials and other spectators gathered at noon today for ground-breaking ceremonies at the West Fourth street site for the new $450,000 John Simpson building.

Highlighting the ceremonies were the appearances of Mrs. Charles H. Keating, 74 Sturges avenue, daughter of John Simpson after whom the school was named. Her daughter, a granddaughter of John Simpson, Mrs. Louis J. Ott, was also present.

The spade with which first ground was broken for the new school was handed to Dr. John H. Hattery, vice president of the school board, by Mrs. Keating. The brief ceremony was snapped by nearly a dozen camera fans.

Included in the gathering were members of the board of education, school officials, representatives of Parent-Teacher associations, architects, contractors and builders.

Just before the ground-breaking ceremonies, the school board members tabulated three bids for furnishing ventilating equipment for the new Johnny Appleseed junior high school.

The low bid was submitted by the E. F. Malone company, Mansfield, which quoted equipment and installation costs at $3,626. The other bidders were the Charles Hoffman company, Mansfield, $4,554, and the Becker-Seidel company, Cleveland, $4,968.

Because the equipment will not be needed for several weeks, Supt. Miller said awarded of the contract would be deferred until a later meeting of the board.

MEMBERS of the various circles of the First Presbyterian church met yesterday afternoon for their final sessions of the year with their present officers.

Mrs. W. R. Hainer reviewed the last chapter of the study book, "Moving Millions" when 20 members of Circle One met in the church parlors. The retiring officers, Mrs. J. B. Lindley, Mrs. C. W. Chew, Mrs. L. S. Houk and Miss Flora Lentzy, were hostesses for the meeting. Mrs. Fred Elder had charge of the devotions. The group spent the afternoon sewing, and when tea was served later, Mrs. Chew presided at the table.

Plans were made for the serving of a dinner Monday night at the church by members of Circle Two when they were entertained by Mrs. Walter Williams at her home on Dickson parkway. Mrs. W. J. Bishop and Mrs. W. P. Spencer were the associate hostesses. The dinner is being held by the city welfare group at the church.

Mrs. William King, general chairman of the church guild, was a guest, and a program was presented with Mrs. W. J. Hammer giving a report on an article about Gandhi, and Mrs. B. L. Chase reviewing the book "Moving Millions." Tea was served at a table decorated with yellow appointments by Mrs. Williams and Mrs. King.

One o'clock luncheon and a birthday party were events of yesterday afternoon for members of Circle Three when they met at the church. There were 17 members and three guests present for the affair, and each one gave the number of pennies corresponding with her age. Mrs. A. B. M. White gave the afternoon's devotions, and Miss Thelma Reed played two piano solos.

Mrs. Harvey Lanehart and Mrs. J. H. Bristor were in charge of yesterday's session, when Mrs. Lanehart retired from her duties as chairman of the organization. There will be a meeting of the Women's guild of the church on March 16, and beginning with the April sessions, each of the circles will elect new chairmen and officers.

At the final meeting of the year for Circle Five work was done for the hospital during the afternoon while Mrs. D. O. Meese led the devotions. The session was held at the home of Mrs. E. F. Malone, 318 South Main street, with Mrs. Samuel Martin and Mrs. Earl Ditsler, assisting, and Mrs. Walter Goodenough was in charge.

Following the reorganization of the guild and the circles announcement will be made of meeting places and dates.

Plan Parties In March For Rushees

Small calendars with the dates of coming events appropriately marked on them were presented to 10 rushees of the Beta Kappa Tau sorority last night when the members and their guests gathered at the club rooms. Affairs planned for this month to honor the rushees are a dinner Monday night, a tea on March 12, a theater party March 21 and a social meeting March 28.

A report on the national sorority was given by Miss Esther Lantz, and the Misses Ethel Heuss and Margaret Kochheiser were appointed to serve on the board this month. The next board meeting will be held Thursday night at the home of Miss Joan Stout on West Fourth street.

Reveal Wedding Of Miss Clabaugh

A wedding of mid-August was announced simultaneously in three cities today when Mr. and Mrs. Ira Clabaugh, Shelby, revealed the marriage of their daughter, Sarah E., to Roy S. McKean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood McKean, Crestline. The ceremony was performed Aug. 20, 1938, at the First M. E. church of Cumberland, Md., by Rev. George E. Baughman.

The bride, who had made her home in Mansfield at 127 Western avenue, was employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. Mr. McKean is an employe of the Pennsylvania railroad. Mrs. McKean attended the Shelby schools, and her husband those in Crestline. They will be at home the first of the week to friends at 124 Tohoman street in Crestline.

SPORTS MOTIF

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — Wayne Morris is having all his favorite sports carried out in the interior decorating plan of his playroom. Pillows will be in the shape of boxing gloves and baseball mits; tennis racquets and sections of bamboo fishpoles will frame pictures; and a ski pole will be the base of a lamp.

Serve Covered-Dish Luncheon To Members of Church Groups

WHEN members of the Home and Foreign Missionary societies and the Ladies' Aid society of the Central Methodist Episcopal church met for an all-day session at the church yesterday, they made plans for a covered-dish luncheon to be held next Thursday at 12:30 o'clock. Mrs. E. C. Jenkins and Mrs. C. N. Shultz will be in charge of this meeting at the church.

Mrs. L. F. Rondel was in charge of the Home Missionary society session in the morning, when Mrs. H. W. Peterson gave the devotions. Rev. Paul Hollingshead, pastor of the church, conducted the text book study, the theme of which was "Skylines From Towers."

Mrs. Carl Spangler and her committee, members of the Circle Three of the church, served the noon luncheon, after which the Foreign Missionary society met. Mrs. C. C. Hayden of Wooster was the guest speaker at this time, and she told of the changed conditions in the foreign mission field. Mrs. Hayden, who was formerly a missionary in Burma, is the daughter of Mrs. Ruth Orcutt and the sister of Mrs. Robert Barker.

Mrs. E. C. Jenkins was in charge of the foreign session, with Mrs. Louis Rahn reading the devotions. During the musical portion of the program, Mrs. Jenkins and Mrs. Charles Birch sang a vocal duet, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Rahn.

Mrs. Shultz conducted the Ladies' Aid meeting, when Rev. Hollingshead gave the devotions. Mrs. L. A. Ogborn, Mrs. Retta Bonar and Mrs. Birch were members of a trio who sang a group of numbers. Mrs. Robert Jones played the piano accompaniment.

The next all day meeting of these groups will be held at the church on April 13, with Mrs. C. G. Critchfield and members of her committee from Circle Four in charge of the arrangements.

Informally Speaking...

By MARIANNE

MR. AND MRS. A. J. STUTZ have just returned to their home in Huntington, W. Va., after having visited in Mansfield for several days. Mrs. Stutz was Mary Alice Kyle before her marriage, and she and her husband celebrated their first wedding anniversary while they were here—when they visited with Mary Alice's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George C. Kyle. . . . Mr. Stutz was formerly connected with a local flower shop and is now affiliated with one in Huntington. . . . Mary Alice says that she likes the south very much and finds the people there ever so friendly—so Dorothy Cunningham went along back with the Stutzes to get a sample of that southern hospitality. P. S. According to Mary Alice, springtime is much more in evidence in West Virginia than it is up here—because the trees are already in bud and the early spring flowers are blooming.

Another Mansfield college student has been honored at his school. . . . Raymond Hainer (who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hainer) made the honor roll at Wooster college for his grades during this past semester. And this was indeed an honor because only 17.4 per cent of the students enrolled at the college were eligible for this honor—with no grade below "B"—and 21 students had all "A" grades. Raymond is a junior at the college, majoring in chemistry.

SAW Virginia (Kurrich) Snyder down town the other day—and she was busy hurrying from one store to another looking for just the right kind of draperies to use in her new home. She and her husband, Don, recently moved into a new bungalow on Saxton road. . . . Virginia is quite elated over it—as well as the blue birds and red birds which she has already attracted to her yard with the food she puts out for them.

MR. AND MRS. GLENN S. VINSON have just returned from a six weeks' vacation in Florida . . . and they're very proud of what they brought back with them—a Tennessee Walking Horse. You don't know what a walking horse is? . . . Well, the breed was originally used for plantation horses because of its smooth, springy gait . . . which is so smooth that his rider could carry a full glass of water in his hand without spilling a drop! All of these walking horses relax certain muscles while walking their best, nod their heads, swing their ears or even snap their teeth—and are thus distinguished as having a rocking horse gait. . . . In the past year, however, the walking horses have gone high tone with arched necks and cropped tails—and so they were recently admitted to the show horse class. . . . Fittingly enough, the Vinsons' horse is named "High Tone"—and he's a thoroughbred. . . . While they were in the south, Mr. and Mrs. Vinson did quite a bit of night fishing and also went over to Havana, Cuba, for a short time.

Unexpected but welcome arrivals in Mansfield last evening to spend a few days were Howard and Melva (Graham) Chernett of Charleston, W. Va. They drove up, by way of Columbus. Both former newspaper workers, they're now in radio, you know. . . . Howard is assistant general manager of WCHS at Charleston—and Melva has a program of her own on the same station.

FLORIDA BOUND: Mrs. Myrtle R. Aungst left early yesterday morning with her son, Emerson McWilliams, for a southern vacation. . . . They're driving down to West Palm Beach, Fla., and plan to stay two or three weeks.

HAVE GUEST.

Mrs. R. W. Haverfield was a guest of the W. B. A. Pioneer club No. 315 yesterday when Mrs. Verb Lambright, 37 Waring avenue, entertained. After the regular routine business meeting attended by 13 members luncheon was served. Mrs. Sidney Smith will entertain the group March 13 at a 1 p. m. luncheon at the Smith restaurant on Newman street.

ALL-DAY SESSION.

The Alpha class of the St. Matthew's Lutheran church met at the home of Mrs. V. R. Brown, Rae avenue, yesterday for an all-day quilting and luncheon. There were 12 members and four guests present.

Tygers Bank on Scoring Power In Tournament

Open Defense of District Title In Tussle With Port Clinton In Sandusky Tonight.

Records of Sandusky Tournament Favorites.

|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Bellevue | 15 | 5 | .750 | 638 | 32 | 466 | 23 |

| MANSFIELD | 10 | 6 | .625 | 505 | 34 | 415 | 28 |

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

HOPING that the old basketball axiom that a team's best defense is its offense will work to their advantage tonight, Mansfield high school's hoopsters, accompanied by Coaches Russ Murphy and Harry Mehock and a retinue of managers and trainers, set out for Sandusky late this afternoon.

Their destination was the spacious junior high school gym in the lake city, where they open their defense of the district championship at 8:15 tonight.

As the tournament is a "do or die" proposition, Coach Murphy's Tygers hope to put an emphasis on "do" tonight in their battle with the floor Sailors of Port Clinton.

Tyger Team Favored.

Mansfield, rated as second choice to Bellevue in the pre-tournament ratings, rules a slight favorite over the Port Clintonites in this evening's imbroglio.

Murphy had no comment to make on departure, apparently, due to the mediocre performances of the Tygers in the pre-tournament drills, but saw the possibility of a victory brightened if the Mansfield offensive operates in customary fashion.

The Mansfield representatives sport the best offensive record in the elimination. Playing against tougher opposition than any of their rivals faced during the regular season, the Tygers carry an average of a fraction less than 24 points per game.

Port Clinton, tonight's rival, sports the next best record, 33 points per game, and, in view of the scoring prowess of the two clubs, the tilt is expected to develop into an offensive dual.

Tommy Scott, Dave Shelley and Jack Lyons will be the chief Mansfield threats. Port Clinton's scoring leader is Don Woodrich, tall forward, who rung up 189 points this season. Jack Smith, who plays either at a guard or forward, and Gene Bolte, the center, have scored 126 and 114 points, respectively. The Sailors have another man in the century scoring columns in Jim Sims, a guard, who has accumulated a total of 103 points.

Tonight's program will be opened at 7 o'clock with a tiff between Shelby and Norwalk, and the outcome of this game is a toss-up. Fremont and Sandusky close the program at 9:30 with the Blue Streaks heavily favored on the strength of their two regular season triumphs over the Giants.

Four Games Saturday.

A four-game program is on schedule for Saturday when the semi-finalists will be determined. Tiffin Junior and Willard play at 6 p. m., and Mansfield will go against the Shelby-Norwalk winner at 7:15 if it takes the Sailors tonight. If not, Port Clinton will be in there.

The winner of tonight's last game tackles Tiffin Columbian at 8:30, while Bellevue, nursing state championship ambitions, takes on Ashland at 9:45.

Champs Head Card At Armory

Great Mephisto Meets Kudo; Mildred Burke Also on Mat Bill Tonight.

KIMON KUDO, clever Japanese light-heavyweight, gets his second chance at the world light-heavyweight title here tonight when he meets the Great Mephisto.

Kudo and the 'Great One' will wrestle for two falls, with a 90-minute time limit, headlining a two-ply championship card at the Armory.

Vie In Rematch.

The second title up for decision will be the women's lightweight belt. Miss Mildred Burke of Kansas City, present holder of the crown gives Babe Myers of St. Paul another opportunity of gaining the title. Their argument will be decided in two falls, with a 45-minute time limit.

Babe Myers

Tonight marks the third time that Mephist that Mephisto has defended his honors locally since he regained the championship and the presence of Miss Burke makes it one of the stand out offerings of the season.

Kudo has insisted that the Quality Club put special padding on the apron of the ring. The Jap claims that an injury received when his back struck the edge of the ring was responsible for his defeat two weeks ago. He told Matchmaker Tim Nolan that he will refuse to enter the ring unless his demands are carried out.

Open Card At 8:30.

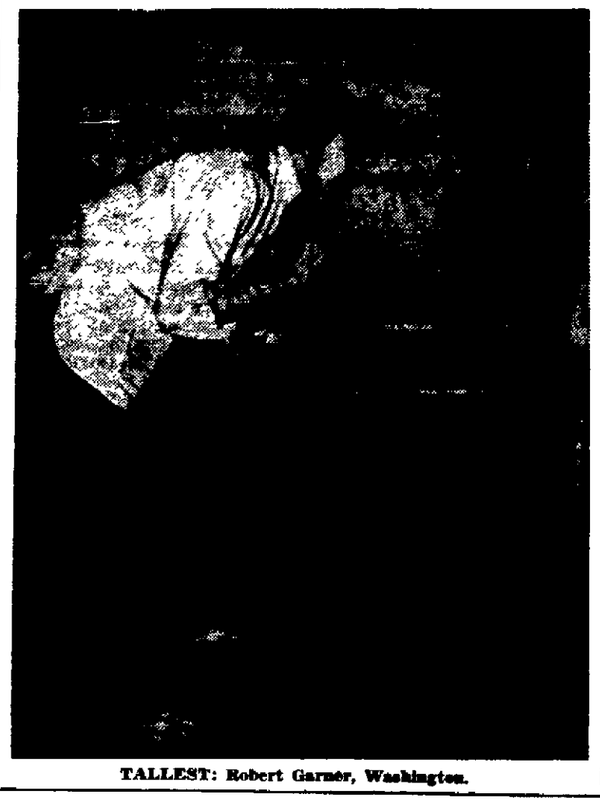
Opening tonight's card will be a contest between Sailor Bull Curly of Glouster, Mass., and Steve Budynas of Schenectady, N. Y. They will wrestle for one fall with a 30-minute time limit, starting at 8:30.

Advance sale of tickets is being conducted at Hunt's News Stand and Ringside Cafe.

BROWN, WHITEHEAD 'WEIGHT-LIFTING' CHAMPS OF MAJORS



TALLEST: Robert Garner, Washington.

(By Associated Press)

GOOD baseball players apparently don't grow in Maine, Vermont, South Dakota, Montana, New Mexico or Idaho. These are the only states without native sons in the major leagues.

California is the most productive state with 61 big leaguers. Illinois has 51. Pennsylvania, Texas and North Carolina have 34 apiece. Missouri has 30, New York 24, Ohio 20, Oklahoma 18, and Indiana, Tennessee and Georgia, 16. Kentucky, Delaware and Wyoming have only one.

Here are other gleanings from those statistical bibles, the American league's Red Book, edited by Prof. Henry Pierpont Edwards, and the National league's Green Book, edited by Prof. William Brandt.

The heavyweight of the big leagues is Walter Brown, the New York Giants' 265-pound pitcher. The avordupois ace of the American loop is John Whitehead, 220-pound pitcher of the Chicago White Sox.

The lightweight champions are Lynn Myers, 145-pound St. Louis Cardinal shortstop and Jim Webb, 150-pound Cleveland shortstop.

(The learned Profs. Edwards and Brandt offer no explanation as to why fat runs to pitchers and lean to shortstops.)

The tallest skyscraper in the big leagues is Robert Garner, 6-feet-7-inch Washington rookie pitcher. Jim Weaver, 6-feet-6 Pittsburgh pitcher, tops the Nationals.

The shortest guys are Leo Durocher, Brooklyn shortstop-manager; Cleveland's infielder, Frank Scalzi, and Washington's outfielder, Roberto Estalella. They're 5.06.

Here is the tallest team that can be mustered from big league clubs: First base—Detroit's Hank Greenberg or Cincinnati's Frank McCormick, 6.04. Second base—Cleveland's Oscar Grimes or St. Louis Cardinals' Stu Martin, 6.00. Third base—Boston's Jim Tabor, 6.02. Shortstop—St. Louis Cardinals' Martin Marion, 6.02. Outfielders—Boston's Ted Williams, 6.03; St. Louis Cardinals' Lou Vezilich, 6.02½, and New York Giants' John Winsett, 6.02½. Catcher—New York Yankees' Bill Dickey or Cincinnati's Ernie Lombardi, 6.02. Pitcher—Washington's Robert Garner, 6.07.

And here's the shortest team: First base—Chicago Cubs' Rip Collins, 5.09. Second base—Philadelphia Phillies' Emmett Mueller, 5.06. Third base—Pittsburgh's Lee Handley, 5.08. Shortstop—Brooklyn's Leo Durocher, 5.06. Outfielders—Washington's Roberto Estalella, 5.06; Pittsburgh's Lloyd Waner, 5.07, and Cincinnati's Stan Bordagaray, 5.07. Catcher—Cleveland's Frank Pytlak, 5.07. Pitcher—Chicago's Art Herring, 5.07.

HEAVIEST: Walter Brown, Giants.

Ranzolo, Brown Vie In Third 10-Round Bout on Mitt Card

Penna Ranzola, middleweight of Las Vegas, Mex., and Jimmy Brown of Canton will tangle in the third 10-round bout on the Quality club boxing card to be staged at the Armory Tuesday night, Matchmaker Fred Nolan announced today.

In the other 10-round bouts on the card, Lloyd Pine, Akron featherweight, will engage Joe Fernandez of Fairmont, W. Va., and Willie Russell of Columbus, state lightweight champion, meets Cleo McNeil of Los Angeles. A four-round curtain raiser will be added to the card.

Nolan also announced today that top prices for the show will be $1, with general admission 75 cents, 50 cents for women and 25 cents for children under 12. Tickets will be placed on sale at Hunt's News Depot and Ringside cafe this week-end.

Wooster Wins Court Honors

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—It's official now. The Scots of Wooster college today were the 1939 Ohio conference and unofficial state college basketball champions.

The rivet in the conference championship trophy was pounded in with gusto last night as the Scots walloped Kenyon, 63 to 24, for their 16th league victory in a row without defeat.

Wooster plays Muskingum Saturday in its final game. Even if the Scots should lose, their won and lost percentage would be better than that of Wittenberg which closed its season in second place with 11 triumphs and one setback.

As he has all season, Dave Henderson paced the Wooster attack against Kenyon and tallied 17 points while Grenert turned in 14.

Between halves, the champion Scots elected Johnny Mack and Cliff Smith, both from Trenton, N. J., as co-captains of the 1939-40 cage team.

FIRST BATTING DRILL BILLED FOR INDIANS

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — The first batting and infield drill for Cleveland Indian rookies was scheduled for today. Cold weather and a rain-soaked diamond has delayed work but Manager Oscar Vitt has seen enough of a pair of pitching prospects, Joe Dobson nd Floyd Stromme, to get a favorable impression.

QUITS PITT POST

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Alex Fox, former Martins Ferry, O., high school football coach, has resigned as first assistant to Coach Jock Sutherland to become a salesman, the University of Pittsburgh announced today.

Lucas Edges Bluffton; Butler Plays Tonight

Crawford and Greulich Star In 32 to 30 Victory; Bulldogs to Engage Host Carey Quintet.

By CHARLES MARTIN

WITH one Richland county quintet already set for the quarter-finals, another county combine, the Butler high Bulldogs, will attempt to duplicate the feat when they invade Carey tonight to face the touted Carey high outfit in an opening round game of the District Class B tournament at 7:30 o'clock.

Lucas, champions of the annual county tournament, safely hurled its initial obstacle last night by turning back a fighting Bluffton high aggregation, 32 to 30, in a thrilling tussle before a gathering of 800 in the Carey high gymnasium.

Cubs Meet Fostoria.

Coach Alfred Axe's athletes are idle today, but will return to action at 7:30 p. m. Saturday. The Cubs tackle Fostoria St. Wendelin and are expected to come through with another triumph to advance to the semi-finals at 9 p. m. Friday, March 10.

Butler's high-scoring machine meets up with a tough opponent tonight, but with the return of Jack Wilson to the lineup, the Bulldogs are given an even chance of moving into the quarter-finals. Should they win, they will clash with the winner of the Ada-Holmes Liberty contest at 8:30 p. m. Saturday.

In topping Bluffton last night, the Cubs eliminated a club that went into the tourney sporting a record of 10 victories against three losses.

Led by Bob Crawford and Tom Greulich, the team's scoring twins, Lucas staged a brilliant last-half rally to emerge on the long end of the score.

Possessing a spectacular fast-breaking attack that clicked with precision in the second period, Bluffton, a pre-tournament favorite, was unable to throttle the scoring exhibition of the Lucas forwards after the intermission.

Lucas, trailing 16 to 13 at the rest period, spurted early in the third quarter to grab a lead it was able to maintain to the finish. The Cubs chalked up seven points in that frame before the losers could locate the basket.

Axe's men went into the final period with a one-point lead and not once during the hectic session did they hold more than a three-point advantage.

Bluffton cut the Cubs' lead to a 30 to 29 count with less than two minutes to play, but LaVerne Mitchell sank his only goal of the game to ice the affair. Wenger, flashy Bluffton forward, slipped in a free throw near the finish, but Lucas then took possession of the ball until the final gun.

Don Page's fine floor work and expert play of rebounds was outstanding during the entire game.

Lucas led, 10 to 7 in the first period, and 23 to 22 at the end of the third chapter.

Crawford Sets Pace.

Crawford was high-point man for the evening with 15 markers, and Greulich followed him with 12. Fisher and J. Clark were high for the losers with eight points apiece.

Capt. Johnnie Oswalt, one of the Cubs' regular guards, was scheduled to see action last night, but Axe decided at the last minute to keep the youth on the sidelines. He is suffering from a knee injury.

Predicts Rain For Rich Race

Weatherman Discourages Trainers at Santa Anita.

SANTA ANITA, Cal. — (INS) — With indications that no more than 15 horses and perhaps several less would make up the Santa Anita handicap ensemble, all hands stood by today awaiting the closing of the entries and the drawing for post positions in the race.

The exact cast for tomorrow's $100,000 race was very much up in the air due to doubtful track conditions. Professor Irving Crick, the local weather doctor, predicteed a moist afternoon the day of the race.

A muddy track would spell disaster for several important horses in tomorrow's $100,000 argument. Hardest hit of all would be Nelson A. Howard's Gosum, one of the "danger horses" of the race. Gosum can't stand up in the mud.

Main Man, Louie B. Mayer's ace, is very ordinary in it, while Congressman and Stands Alone, two outsiders, are in the same category. Gosum will be withdrawn if the track is not fast.

Calhoun, Doran Lead Inmates

With Calhoun and Doran scoring 17 and 16 points, respectively, the reformatory courtiers outpointed the Canton, O., Merchants, 50 to 43, on the institution floor yesterday.

The inmates jumped into a 11 to 4 lead in the first period and never trailed thereafter. They held a 23 to 19 advantage at the intermission.

OHIO COURTMEN POINT FOR WIN OVER PURDUE

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Purdue, the Big Ten's defending basketball champion, has no lien on the 1939 championship, but it is still the team to beat so far as Ohio State is concerned.

They clash here tomorrow night in their closing game of the season with Purdue in position to ruin the same championship picture it created for the Bucks by upsetting first place Indiana last Monday.

The Only Tire Made with the NEW SAFETY-LOCK CORD BODY and NEW GEAR-GRIP TREAD...

NEVER before in our experience has a tire met with such instant and unanimous approval as the new Firestone Champion Tire. It's the Safety Sensation of 1939! Our customers have started a word-of-mouth campaign that is making this the biggest selling tire we've ever had. Motor car manufacturers have been so impressed by its superior performance that they have adopted it for their 1939 models.

Why? Because the Firestone Champion Tire is an entirely new achievement in safety engineering.

Stronger Cord Body. This is accomplished first, by the use of a completely new type of tire cord called "Safety-Lock," in which the cotton fibers are more compactly interwoven to assure cooler running and provide greater strength. Then, the fibers in each individual cord, the cords in each ply and the plies themselves, are all securely locked together by a new and advanced Firestone process of Gum-Dipping which provides amazingly greater strength. And greater strength means greater safety.

LOUIS MEYER
Only Three-Time Winner Annual Indianapolis 500-Mile Race

Champion race drivers, whose lives and chances of victory depend on tire safety, know tire construction and that is why they select and buy Firestone Tires for their cars.

More Non-Skid Mileage. The new Safety-Lock cord construction provides the extra strength needed for the use of the new, thicker, tougher, deeper Firestone Gear-Grip tread which delivers remarkably longer non-skid mileage. This sensational new tread is called "Gear-Grip" because of its unique design — it has more than 3,000 sharp-edged angles which grip the road with a sure-footed hold to protect against skidding and assure a safe stop.

Drive in today and equip your car with a new set of Firestone Champion Tires — the only tires made that are safety-proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway.

ALTHOUGH playing the last 10 minutes with only four men, the Raemelton Farm basketeers defeated the Musille Cigars, 29 to 24, in a thrilling tussle in the Senior league at the Friendly House last night.

The victory enabled the Farmers to take an undisputed lead as the Rex Billiards bowed to the Blue Goose Sohioans, 27 to 24.

Trail at Opening.

The Raemelton quintet trailed only once in the game, and that was in the first period when the Sohioans jumped into a 9 to 7 lead. The winners held the Cigars scoreless in the second frame while scoring 12 points to take a 19 to 9 advantage at the intermission.

Musille's team reduced the lead slightly in the third period when the Farm's lineup was reduced to four men by personals, but the Raemelton club made a sparkling defense in the final stanza to protect its advantage.

Ken Hardin and Zacharias, with 13 and 10 points, respectively, led the Farmers, while Contra was high for the Cigars with 11.

The Blue Goose cagemen were forced to come from behind to decision the Billiards, first half champions. Held to two points in the first period, the Sohioans trailed 13 to 8 at the half, but came back in a spectacular manner in the third quarter to overtake the champs, 20 to 15.

The Sohioans were outscored in the final period, but the lead they obtained in the third quarter held out.

Willard Lockhart paced the Blue Goose team with nine points. Kenny, his brother, added seven. Mike Wentz tallied 13 for the Cuemen.

Step Into Tie.

The Miller Dairys moved into a four-way tie with the Billiards, Cigars and Sohioans for second place by defeating Augustine's Canfield Oils, 45 to 34. The Oils held an 11 to 9 lead at the end of the first period, but the Dairys went ahead 25 to 15 in the next frame, and never were in serious danger from then on.

Jim Heiser, Dairy center, was the scoring leader of the game with 21 points. Bill Moritz added 11. Augustine tallied 10 for the losers.

State Titleholder Dethroned by Jackets.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Ohio schoolboy basketball teams continued their battles in sectional tournaments today assured that new state champions will be crowned in both Class A and Class B divisions at Columbus, March 18.

Newark, the defending Class A state titleholder, fell before a smooth-working Mt. Vernon quintet, 32 to 25, in the central district playoffs last night. Canal Fulton, the Class B champ, failed to survive county playoffs last week.

The defeat was the first for Newark in four years of district tournament play. Jake Giveins, a rangy center, scored 10 points in the Mount Vernon triumph.

HERSHEY HALTS BARONS, NEARER HOCKEY TITLE

HERSHEY, Pa.—(INS)—The Hershey Bears were practically certain to finish in first place in the western division of the International-American league regular season today after they defeated the Cleveland Barons 4 and 3 in a rough hockey game on the local ice. The victory put the Bears five points out in front, and nothing short of a miracle can dethrone them in the few games left to play.

Weems Leads Office Team to 2822 Series

Cracks Out 640 Total In Commercial B League; Donna Schuster Sets Women's Pace.

THE OFFICE CAFE held the scoring spotlight in the Commercial B league at the Meder alleys last night, but it failed to break its first place tie with the Mansfield Printers.

Paced by Jimmy Weems, who cracked the uprights for a 640, the Office pinsters came through with a nifty 2822 total to take a pair of games from the Heilman Grocers. Weems put together scores of 221, 235 and 184.

Robert Flood's 622 led the Mansfield Printers to a 2772 total and a pair of wins over the Mansfield Rugs.

The Satterlee Restaurant pinmen crawled within one game of the leaders by sweeping their match with the Ohio Public Service quintet.

George Maier blasted out a 607 to pace the fourth place Ringside Cafe to a 2713 total, but the count was good for only one win over the Burghardt Cafe.

The Yuncker Sports compiled the third high series of 2771 as they took three games from Met's Auto Supplies, and the Shelby Cycles added two wins at the expense of the Kochheiser Sports.

Bowman Quint Snaps 2-Game Losing Streak

Grade School Leader Trims Prospect, 23 to 5.

The front-running Bowman basketeers snapped their two-game losing streak by taking Prospect into camp by a 23 to 5 count in a Grade School league game at Mansfield high school yesterday.

Although neither team scored in the first period, Bowman leaped into a 11 to 2 advantage at the half. Thomas led Bowman with a dozen points.

Led by Brooks' 12 points, Bushnell remains one game behind Bowman by virtue of its 21 to 16 triumph over Newman, and Hedges held on to third place by outpointing West Fifth, 15 to 14.

Woodland dropped two games yesterday, losing to Brinkerhoff, 15 to 14, and to West Fifth, 14 to 10. In the other game, Western decisioned Carpenter, 17 to 8, Weaver tallying 10 points for the winner.

THEATERS

LOOKING AHEAD: The Warner lads will pull every string to have the world premiere of "The Rains Came" in Mansfield "on account of because," its author, Louis Bromfield, will be living here. But the picture hasn't even been definitely cast and it will take months to film it after it is. . . . Edward Arnold's life story—all 47,000 words—may appear serially in a national magazine. . . . The four Westmore brothers, tycoons of make-up in Hollywood, are about to split over a secret formula one has discovered, a sort of rubber make-up that imparts all kinds of funny expressions to one's face. Doesn't sound like anything to quarrel about. . . .

RITZ TO STAGE KIDDIES SHOW

Event Saturday Will Mark Opening Of New Serial Picture.

The Ritz theater will give a bargain show for children early Saturday afternoon in connection with the opening of a new serial, "Flaming Frontiers" at that theater.

The 15-chapter serial, based on the perils and courage of the American pioneers who moved westward to open a new country in Indian territory, will be shown each Friday and Saturday. Johnny Mack Brown is starred and Eleanor Hansen is the "girl interest."

In addition to the serial the two regular features, "Pals of the Saddle" and "Time Out for Murder" will be shown, and thrown in for "bargain measure" will be a Popeye cartoon, Our Gang comery, a Fox Movietone newsreel and a special feature "Sons of The Plains" with Bobby and Billy Mauch.

The doors open at 12.15 and the show starts at 12:30 p. m.

CARROLL PASTES CASE

CLEVELAND—(INS)—John Carroll's hockey sextet today was a prime favorite for the Ohio-Pennsylvania collegiate hockey league championship today after handing Case a 5 to 0 pasting in a game at Cleveland arena.

Rooney as Huck Finn.

Huckleberry Finn," one of several Mark Twain stories to be filmed, is regarded with more than ordinary interest because of the fact that Mickey Rooney plays the beloved boyhood character. Rooney seems more suited to Mark Twain's characters than any player before him, and should fit perfectly into the role of the boy who played hookey, refused to wear shoes and finally ran away to hide on a Mississippi river raft. Walter Connolly, William Frawley and Rex Ingram head the supporting cast with Elizabeth Risdon as the widow. The picture opens Saturday at the Ohio.

Happy Ending.

All's well that ends well in "The Three Musketeers," Madison attraction, and this swashbuckling tale of recovery of a Queen's brooch ends with the greatest swordsman, D'Artagnan, recovering the jewel, winning the lady-in-waiting and saving the queen. Even the Ritz Brothers, impersonating the Musketeers, give up their deception and exchange swords for meat cleavers. This film, with "Pardon My Nerve," remains at the Madison through Saturday.

New Series.

The popular trend toward serial pictures has invaded the Westerns and producers have been pushed to find something new. Which is probably the reason that Dorothy Page is introduced in a new series revolving around a singing cowgirl. The first episode, "Water Rustlers" introduces Miss Page to Majestic patrons. The adventures of two American sweethearts in China are depicted in "North of Shanghai," a second film.

New Mesquiteer.

With the opening of "Pals of the Saddle" at the Ritz today a new member is introduced into the action of the Three Mesquiteers series. John Wayne, dashing Western hero, replaces Robert Livingston who will play featured leads in Republic pictures from now on. Roy Corrigan and Max Terhune are the other two Mesquiteers. Wayne has long been popular in Western "horse operas." A second feature at the Ritz is "Time Out for Murder."

Double Mystery Dose.

Kent Taylor as a romantic and dashing private detective in "Last Express," a Crime Club story, has plenty to engage his attention when two murder mysteries are dumped into his lap. One is a prosecuting attorney and the other victim is a pickpocket—far apart, yet strangely related. Dorothea Kent injects romance into the story. Mickey Rooney and Ralph Bellamy in "Little Pal," a reissued film, is also shown.

HIGHER PRICES IN LONDON SPUR STOCK BUYING

New Highs Listed as Leaders Step Up Fractions to More Than a Point.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market put a foot forward today, leaders stepping up fractions to more than a point.

There was another assortment of new highs for the past year, including International Harvester, Deere, Caterpillar Tractor, Greyhound and United Fruit.

Higher prices for American stocks in London helped to inspire buying here, brokers said.

U. S. government and corporate loans tilted upward. Commodities were irregularly better.

On the market horizon was the survey of Dun & Bradstreet which said "the past week brought signs that the pause in business activity was giving way to a mild upturn."

The review added that both producers and wholesalers discerned improvement in trade sentiment.

From the machine tool sector came reports both inquiries and orders had been broadening lately.

SCOUT, FATHER RECEIVE AWARDS

Veteran Badges Given Shelby Pair; Mansfield Boys Win Rank of Eagle.

Five-year veteran badges, marking the completition of five years of service to the Boy Scout movement, were awarded to a Shelby Eagle scout and his father at an area court of honor last night in the lodge rooms of the Elks home, attended by 100 parents and friends.

The rank of Eagle scout, the highest a scout can attain, were awarded to two Mansfield youths, and the ranks of Life and Star scouts were conferred on 15 others.

The veteran badges were presented to Eagle Scout Robert Sutter, and his father Julius Sutter, chairman of the Shelby scout district and vice president of the Johnny Appleseed area. Sutter and his son started in the scouting movement together five years ago. Another son, Thomas, was presented with a silver palm at the court for earning 15 merit badges over the required 21 needed to become an Eagle scout.

The Eagle rank was conferred on Robert Houlette, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Houlette, 57 Hoffman avenue, and Richard Weaver, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Weaver, 31 Sherman avenue.

The Life scout rank went to Eugene Au, Darrell Nichols, James Curry, Robert McManes and Robert Burns all of Mansfield; Jack Lentz and George James of Ashland and Richard Claes of Shelby. Those who received the Star rank are William Dietrichson, William Leonard Thomas Schacher, Joseph Gentille, Ralph Stanton and Leland Brubaker all of Mansfield. Bronze palms went to Fred Lavender and Floyd Myers of Mansfield and Kenneth Sherer of Galion.

Life ranks were presented by Sutter, Star by Philip Smith, Eagle rank by L. A. Ott, president of the area, and the palms were given by J. Leo Hartmann, chairman of the court, and C. L. Kimmell, area commissioner.

Mother's Standby in Treating
CHILDREN'S Frequent COLDS

If your children keep coming down with nasty little colds all winter, use Vicks VapoRub these three simple ways.

✓ For relieving discomforts of chest colds and night coughs, rub VapoRub on throat, chest and back at bedtime. VapoRub's poultice-vapor action relieves local congestion—eases muscular soreness or tightness—helps the youngster relax into restful sleep.

✓ For coughing and irritated throat caused by colds, put VapoRub on the child's tongue. It melts, trickles slowly down—bathes the throat with soothing medication. Then massage VapoRub on throat and chest.

✓ For "sniffles" and misery of head colds, melt a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water. Have the child breathe in the steaming vapors. This loosens phlegm, clears air-passages, makes breathing easier. Also massage VapoRub on throat and chest. Millions of families use these three time-tested ways to relieve the misery of colds.

PEACE, CHARITY POPE'S PLEA IN SURPRISE TALK

Speech Sounds Plea to All Rulers; Remarks Likened to Those of Pius XI.

and vibrant in contrast to the halting speech that characterized Pius XI in the failing years of his illness-ridden life, Pius XII for the first time used the plural pronoun which is the prerogative of Popes and kings alone.

"While the most profound emotion pervades our soul and we feel overcome in the face of this tremendous responsibility to which divine providence in its inscrutable designs desired to call us," he said, "we feel the need of bringing immediately to all of our flock this, our paternal word.

Cardinals Blessed.

"Above all and with particular affection, we extend our paternal blessing to the most beloved cardinals of the sacred college, whose virtue and eminent gifts of spirit and piety we well know from long experience.

"Then we salute with especial benevolence our venerable brothers of the episcopate and at the same time we bless the Sacerdotal, the religious and the nuns—they who in missions work for diffusion of the reign of Christ and those who in the ranks of Catholic action, under guidance of their bishops, collaborate in the Hierarchal apostolate.

"Finally, we bless all our children, scattered wherever they might be in the world, and especially they who suffer in poverty or in pain.

"Upon all and upon each may there descend, copious and benificent, the highest graces of heaven.

"But in this solemn moment our thought rushes also to all those outside the church to whom it will be pleasing to know that the Pope raises for them to God Almighty prayers and hopes for all goodness.

"To this, our paternal message, we wish to add an augury and an invitation to peace.

Recalls Predecessor.

"Of that peace we wish to say what our predecessor of Pious memory said, for which he with such insistence counselled all man, for which he invoked such ardent prayers, and for which he made to God a spontaneous offer of his life.

(Editor's note: This was a reference to a declaration made by Pope Pius XI some months before his death, in which he offered to lay down his life if the lot of mankind could thus be improved and asked otherwise for continued strength to carry on his lifelong battle against the forces of chaos.)

"We speak of that peace which is the sublime gift of heaven, the peace which is the desire of all good souls, the peace which is the fruit of charity and justice.

"We invite all to a peace of tranquil conscience and friendship to God, to a peace of families united and harmonized in the holy love of Christ, to an infinite peace between nations by way of mutual paternal help, friendly collaboration and cordial understanding for the higher interests of the great human family under the eyes and protection of divine providence.

Offers Special Prayer.

"And in these wearisome and difficult hours, when so many difficulties seem to oppose themselves to attainment of that peace which is the most profound aspiration of all hearts, we raise to Christ a special prayer for all those to whom falls the high honor and grave weight of guiding people along the ways to prosperity and progress.

"And so, most beloved cardinals, excellent and venerable brothers and so beloved children, this is the first wish which pours from the paternal heart-beat which God has lighted in our heart.

"There is before us a vision of the immense ills which travail the world and to whose succor the blessed God has sent us unarmed but faithful. St. Paul, we repeat: 'Understand us! You children, you brothers would certainly not render us in vain.'

"We have full faith in this our desire.

"After the grace of God, it is in your good will that our souls infinitely confide. The desire of Christ, our Lord, in whose fullness we all have faith, is that this our wish be fruitful and be distributed as a messenger of holy absolution over all the earth and that it be given the virtue of benediction which in Thy name and with our heart we impart."

Shows Determination.

In every syllable and in every line of his forceful plea there was evident the saintly determination and will for peace which characterized Cardinal Pacelli's discharge of office as papal secretary to Pius XI.

During the ten years that he held that high post, the new pontiff was Pius XI' closest adviser and his never-failing collaborator. In the many encyclicals which Pius XI drafted with his help, and in the frequent messages pleading for peace in a world beset by harted and intolerence, Pius XI voiced the same desires as expressed by his successor today.

But Pius XII lent to the delivery youth and vigor which coupled with the piety and diplomacy for which he is renowned, gave promise that the church had selected for itself a leader whose words might not only be heard but heeded.

'Wait and See' Policy Adopted By Germany.

BERLIN—(AP)—The Nazi press accepted mostly without comment the election of Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli as Pope and sources close to the German foreign office indicated today German policy for the present would be one of conciliation blended with a "wait-and-see" attitude.

While in days immediately following the death of Pope Pius XI some sections of the press spoke critically of the cardinal as opposed to Naziism, today's morning papers confined themselves largely to details of the election.

The Lokal Anzeiger came the closest to clear editorial comment when it said, "there were supposed to be many among the cardinals who were for election of a Pope who would devote himself exclusively to the saving of souls. Now the cardinal with the greatest political experience has been elected."

The Morgenpost noted that the man who became Pope Pius XII "practically determined the policies of the Vatican under his predecessor."

Believe New Pope to Honor McNicholas.

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Catholic church circles speculated today on a possibility that Pope Pius XII might honor with a cardinal's red hat the man who was his host on his visit here two years ago as Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli.

No official comment was available, but some informed observers expressed belief that Archbishop John T. McNicholas of Cincinnati was likely to be promoted, either to the cardinalate or to a larger See.

Vatican City dispatches reported that the naming of two new cardinals for the United States was considered a possibility, the Pope will call a consistory soon, poosibly in June, to fill at least one of the two new vacancies in the college of cardinals. The death of Patrick Cardinal Hayes of New York created one vacancy in the United States and his own elevation as Pope created the other.

SOLONS COOL ON PARKING METERS

Favor Shelving Measure Now, Feel Traffic Drive Has Solved Problem.

$575 in funds within the police department for the purchase of a new three-wheeled motorcycle to replace the five-year-old machine now being used to enforce the parking regulations.

Enabling legislation to re-imburse the general fund authorizes the sale of the old motorcycle and sidecar at not less than $160 and a 10-year-old patrol wagon at not less than $100.

Chief among the other issues which will come before council and one which has not yet been prepared by City Solicitor Marion D. Ward, will be a measure authorizing Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist to enter into a contract with a consulting engineer to conduct a survey of the sanitary sewer system.

City Engineer W. C. Statler is expected to have an outline of the needs to be incorporated in the survey ready in a few days so that legislation can be prepared before Tuesday's meeting.

The legislation will limit the amount to be spent for the survey and also will set up the time in which it is to be completed.

Council also will be asked to approve an appropriation of $13,350 from the waterworks surplus to finance the extension of water lines on five city street.

The appropriation is to pay the city's share of a $30,000 WPA program which will include new mains on Woodland road, Marion avenue, Braeburn, Fifth avenue, and Lincoln avenue.

Another measure to be acted on calls for the transfer of $600 from the general fund to finance the city's contribution to a $1,460 flood control WPA-sponsored project within the city.

Other ordinances are for an appropriation of $2,600 from the garbage fund for the purchase of a new garbage truck and a $360 appropriation for retaining James R. Collier of Elyria as the city's sewage technician for six months on a part-time basis.

ECONOMY ISSUE IN FOREGROUND

Expect Roosevelt, Returning From Cruise, to Outline Business Drive Views.

phasize foreign issues, he also may touch on such domestic matters as his efforts to stimulate business and to end the AFL-CIO conflict.

Senator Harrison's call last night for a radical and substantial cut in congressional appropriations became a factor in the business co-operation campaign, for he said a lowering of the spending level would be the best thing that could happen to improve business.

Harrison, chairman of the senate finnace committee, declared in his statement that the alternative to stringent economy was new taxes and a substantial increase in the national debt.

Many congressmen viewed his declaration as serving to widen the split between economy-minded senators and the White House over the administration's announced program of continuing expenditures at the present $9,000,000,000 level for the next year.

Harrison's economy appeal won immediate approval from Senators Byrd (D., Va.) and Vandenberg (R., Mich.). The latter pledged Republican co-operation in any program "that seeks to restore sanity to federal finances."

CONVICT'S DAUGHTER + + +

By RUTH RAY KANE

(Copyright, 1939.)

CHAPTER TEN

In the days that followed Lona was to learn how difficult it is to shake off the memory of deprivation. Often she recalled the days when, as a child, she had lingered too long on the sled track, unmindful of the cold until the pressure of numbed feet, tingling hands and cramped body could no longer be denied, and she would have to run, in tears, for home and the kitchen stove. Her mother would wrap her in a blanket, peel off her stiffened stockings, scold her gently, make her a hot drink, and in a few minutes she would be toasting before the fire, comfortable and drowsy. But each time she moved, somewhere deep inside of her there would be a shiver. As if she couldn't quite soak up enough heat to wipe out entirely the stinging cold.

It was that way now. After all those desperate, lonely months, to find herself suddenly possessed of a job and a friend. It was too wonderful to last. Something would happen, she kept telling herself. Something was bound to happen. Ever so often in those first few days her finger would falter on the typewriter keys, and she would remember Hardy and his threats with a little inward shiver. If she could only be sure he wouldn't make good his threat, she would tell herself wistfully, looking about the big, cheery office room that had come to be so familiar to her as to seem almost like home. If only she weren't so afraid.

When her first payday arrived she waited with bated breath. If anything turned up, if Sanders had found out anything about her, surely now was the time for it to come out. But he handed her her check at the end of the first Saturday morning with the short, "Good work, Miss Ackerman," which she had learned to know passed for praise with him, and she had taken heart. Perhaps, after all, her luck HAD changed.

She spent that Saturday afternoon shopping. Out of her twelve dollars she put aside room rent and lunch money and two dollars to be given to Jim Claridge as a first installment, and still managed a new hat. A cheap hat, of necessity. She had to shop diligently to find a becoming one that would fit her pocketbook. But it was such fun. And the hat, when she found it finally, gave her, despite its flimsiness, the biggest thrill she had ever had from a mere hat. It was a saucy little thing, gray with a tiny blue feather, and a flying wisp of veil from which her blue eyes looked out merrily.

It made a new woman of her, that hat.

"You're a knockout, girl!" Jim Claridge, waiting for her in the stuffy boarding house parlor, acknowledged it admiringly, his eyes reminding her more than ever of Tiny's when she had done something to please him!

"Like it?" she asked prolonging the moment as long as she could. It was so wonderful to have someone to whom she could talk without being on her guard, someone who understood, as Daddy used to understand.

In the week since she had met Jim, she had realised all over again how terribly lonely she had been. He had fallen into the habit of stopping at the boarding house and taking her out to dinner with him. Because he was lonesome, a stranger in a strange town, he told her. She had been suspicious the first few times that he was really doing it out of pity for her. Then she had come to realize that he really wanted her, liked to talk to her, needed her. They had seen two shows together since that first one. And tonight he was taking her to another when they had finished dinner.

"Can't help but like it," he assured her in his husky drawl. "It sort of—looks like you somehow." He was studying her as she fumbled in her bag a little self-consciously, now that she had drawn his attention to herself. "You're such a little thing. But what's this?"

He drew back as she thrust something into his hand.

"The first payment on what I owe you," she explained.

"But, see here, girl!" His voice was dismayed. "I can't take this. Why, you'd be robbing yourself!"

"But you—you're spending so much on me!" cried Lona, her money sense, quickened by the times she had been through, rearing its head. "I feel ashamed."

He laughed. "You're the first girl I've run across who didn't take all she could get and ask for more," he approved, and the admiration in his tone brought a flush to her cheeks beneath the new hat. It was so good having a friend. As he pushed the bills back into her hand she thought swiftly of the way she had doubted him that first terrible day and her heightened color turned to a flush of shame.

"I'm going to tell Daddy all about you the next time I write,"

she told him, slipping into step beside him as they went down the street.

He looked down at her, then, with surprising earnestness. "You mustn't do that!" he cried, so vehemently that she searched his face, startled. "You mustn't say a word about me." His voice was almost stern.

"But why?" Her tone was wondering.

"A fellow's letters mean so much to him in a place like that. Don't you see that you mustn't tell him about—people you meet? He reads them over and over. Every word stands out. If you mentioned my name he'd be thinking about me, wondering what I was like, waking up nights in a sweat imagining I wasn't—treating you right—" He broke off, and Lona saw his fists slowly unclench, and the tense look that had gathered in the back of his eyes as he spoke begin to relax.

"I know," he said, simply, looking down at her again. "I told you, didn't I, that I had a pal who—died there."

Lona nodded. For a moment he was silent. His shoulders slumped, and his head bent, he stared straight ahead, and Lona, watching him, felt an urge to comfort him.

"Perhaps he's better off, your friend," she said slowly, trying to keep her own pain out of her voice.

He turned to her, then, with swift contrition. "Forgive me," he said, and gave her hand a reassuring pressure as it lay under his elbow. "I didn't thing about—you. I know you don't want to talk about that sort of thing. I'm sorry I disturbed your good time. . . But you see why you mustn't mention me to your father, don't you?" he pursued, with a knitted brow.

"I see," she told him. "And I won't mention you," she promised, wondering at his persistence.

The next day was Sunday. To Lona, waking lazily to the sound of her landlady's high-pitched voice calling her to the telephone, there came no premonition that it was a day to be remembered in the months to come.

"Hello, sleepyhead!" came in Jim's drawl when she picked up the phone. "Don't you know it's nearly noon?"

"Really!" Lona looked through the hall window, surprised. The noonday sun was beating down on the rickety porch next door, which was all the view afforded in the way of scenery. Funny how she could sleep, now that she didn't have to worry . . . "I had a heavy date last night," she told him with a teasing laugh.

"You'd be surprised," she bantered.

He laughed at that. "Say, listen, girl," he said, "it's a grand day for a picnic. I know where we can get a car. What do you say to a run into the country? There's a lake around here somewhere, isn't there? And I'll bet you have a bathing suit—"

"Wichita lake!" Lona interrupted him. "It's a forty-mile drive. Could we—go that far?" She was suddenly elated. Bridgewater was only an hour's drive from Wichita. She had vacationed there often in the old days. A wave of homesickness came over her. It would be heavenly seeing the old lake again.

"It's not too fashionable, is it?" he asked, a little anxiously. "I like my lakes wild."

"There's only campers there," Lona assured him, her voice dancing. "You'll love it."

Ten minutes later he was honking at her door. Running downstairs, her brown curls flying, Lona's laugh bubbled over at sight of him. The car he had borrowed was a jaunty, not-too-new roadster, decorated with a screaming paint job in bright green. Behind its wheel he looked big and awkward, and the grin he turned on her reminded her, somehow, of the way her father used to smile when he sat down on the floor with her to play with her toys.

"We've gone collegiate," he informed her, with a sweep of his lean brown hand toward the four-wheeled splendor in which he sat. "Hope you don't mind. I borrowed her from a college boy who's vacationing on the job with us. He swears she's a lady, even if she does look a little—er—loud."

Earns Fine Living By Renting Self As Alarm Clock

CHICAGO—(INS)—You have to hand it to Miss Paula Zurek for figuring out an original way to earn a living—she rents herself out as a human alarm clock.

Miss Zurek, a former telephone operator, does not sleep well at night. So she placed advertisements in the business personal columns of newspapers, advising that she was available for waking any person by telephone. Miss Zurek said:

"I've already got quite a list of customers. If business keeps up the way it has started, I'll need a switchboard, and two assistants. And the field is broadening. A woman called up and asked me if I would receive her mail."

School Bus Demolished By Train, No Lives Lost

Miraculously, 18 children, a matron and the driver escaped death when this school bus was demolished by a train on the outskirts of Birmingham, Ala. The children were being returned to their homes after attending Sunday school. The driver told police he halted for a stop signal and then started to cross the tracks without noticing the train. All occupants of the bus were injured.

FARM INCOME UP

Implement Dealers Told 1939 Figures to Set Record.

The American farmer's cash income during January increased more than a million and a half dollars over the same period last year, H. W. Moody, Columbus, branch manager for the International Harvester company told district dealers at a dinner meeting at the Mansfield-Leland hotel last night.

More than 50 International Harvester dealers from Richland and surrounding counties heard Moody predict that the 1939 farm income would set a new record.

G. D. McCarthy, assistant manager of the Columbus branch announced the company expected to introduce a new farm tractor this fall.

C. G. Maloney, district territory manager, presided at the meeting.

140 NEW CARS SOLD IN COUNTY

February Total Double Sales In Same Month Last Year.

Exactly twice as many new automobiles were sold in Richland county in February as in the same month last year, despite a slight decline from the January, 1939, total, Norman Henry, deputy clerk of courts, reported today.

Sales of new cars last month totaled 140 as against 70 in February last year and 154 in January, 1939.

County truck dealers sold 18 new trucks in February as compared with 13 in January and seven in Feburary last year, the report showed.

County's Health Seal Receipts $552 More Than Amount Raised Last Year.

The Christian Health seal sale in Richland county brought in $552 more for this year's crusade against tuberculosis than last year's, a report of the campaign made public today by the Richland County Tuberculosis association, revealed.

A total of $4,152 was collected in the county for the 1938 sales as compared with $3,600 in the preceding year. Of this amount Mansfield and Madison township contributed $2,924. In 1937 the city and township bought $2,700 worth of the seals.

Mrs. H. C. Brokaw, Shelby, was general chairman of the campaign, with George H. Smith as chairman of the Mansfield sale. Funds raised through the Health Seal sale are used to finance the free tuberculosis clinics throughout the year.

The largest contribution of any township outside of Madison was in Sharon where Shelby people contributed $827.

DEFENSE OPENS

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Defense attorneys, pleading for the dismissal of espionage charges against three alleged Russian spies, were expected today to declare that confidential naval intelligence information allegedly stolen was not valuable to this country's national defense.

charges are not filed within 30 days.

Amrine was associated with the Ohio State reformatory here for a number of years, coming to the institution as a teacher in 1902 and later was made superintendent of the work shops.

He left the reformatory more than 25 years ago for Huntington, Pa., where he served as assistant to the superintendent at the Pennsylvania reformatory.

He was later superintendent at the London prison farm, and was replaced after he had been discharged by former Gov. Martin L. Davey by Thomas C. Jenkins who left Mansfield reformatory to assume the London post, which he still holds.

Report Ankenbrand Being Considered For Bowling Green

Dr. C. L. Anspach retiring head of Ashland college and W. W. Ankenbrand, formerly superindent of Mansfield Public schools and now head of the Yonkers, N. Y., schools, are among several candidates who are being considered for presidency of Bowling Green state university, United Press dispatches said today.

Selection of a new president for the university was being discussed today by the board of trustees. Dissensions were predicted on one prominent candidate, Frank J. Prout, superintendent of Sandusky schools, who is favored by the three Democratic members of the board but frowned upon by the Two Republican members.

"If he is elected now, we'll throw him out next May when we will have control of the board," E. E. Corriell, a Republican member, said.

Dr. Anspach recently resigned from the presidency of the Ashland institution, to become effective July 1.

Ankenbrand left Mansfield four years ago for Rockford, Ill., where he served as head of the schools for two years before taking his present position in Yonkers. Another candidate being considered is Dr. Walter Collins, president of Wilmington college.

"Keeping up with the Joneses" wouldn't be so difficult if the Joneses weren't trying to keep up with the Astorbilts.

Mrs. Roosevelt says the relief and unemployment problems have not been solved—which confirms what many people have suspected.

Cleveland is already reminding folks that October 21 is the date for the Notre Dame-Navy football game in the Stadium—fearing someone might make other plans for that afternoon.

Reasons for Grand Jury Secrecy.

THE question is raised, from time to time, as to whether there is real need for grand juries as a part of criminal court procedure.

More general public understanding of the intent of the law in providing for grand jury investigation of charges involving serious offenses would go far to strengthen belief that this system has value in protecting an accused person against unwarranted prosecution.

Such a broader understanding of the purposes of a grand jury, and fuller realization of the serious responsibility resting on each of the members thereof, could have been gained by interested persons had they listened to the complete charge that Common Pleas Judge Huston delivered when the Richland county grand jury convened yesterday.

During the course of a charge to the grand jury, explanation is given of the need of secrecy in the proceedings—so that accusations of crimes may be privately examined as to probability of their truth, before giving them publicity in the form of an indictment.

Said the court: "We sometimes find a class of persons who are eager to start criminal prosecution on inadequate evidence. Sometimes this may be from honest motives; sometimes from base, malicious or corrupt motives. If the grand jurors were not required to keep secret their deliberations . . . it is clearly evident that reputations may be damaged."

Innocence or guilt of accused persons, it was also pointed out, is not to be determined by the grand jury, which is required only to find PROBABILITY that if the accused is brought to trial he would be convicted. It is upon this basis that a grand jury is justified in returning an indictment, in which at least twelve of the fifteen grand jurors must concur.

"This county," said Judge Huston, "although not one of the largest in the state, should become one of the first in the state in the enforcement of law, order and decency . . . Criminals of all classes, whether they be office holders or not, must be given to understand that the only 'pull' that will receive any consideration will be an honest effort to live an upright and decent life."

A New Pope Is Chosen.

GATHERED in solemn conclave in Vatican City yesterday, the sixty-two cardinals of the Roman Catholic church quickly performed their momentous task of choosing a new Pope—262nd in the long line that extends back to the beginning of the Christian era.

For the high honor and great responsibility of serving as the spiritual leader of the world's more than 330,000,000 adherents to the Roman Catholic faith, the College of Cardinals reached early agreement on Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, who, as papal secretary of state for the past nine years, had been closely associated with the late Pope Pius XI, and whose devotion to his predecessor is seen in his choice of Pius XII as title.

Of Italian noble birth, and attaining to the papacy on his 63rd birthday anniversary, the life story of Cardinal Pacelli has been one of exceptional accomplishment in religious leadership—such a record as could not fail to impress those charged with the tremendous responsibility of choosing a successor to Pius XI.

It was in the second century that Pius was first used as the name of a Pope, to not appear again until the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, when it was chosen four times. Since 1775, however, Pius has been the name most frequently selected, this being the seventh Pius among the eleven most recent Popes.

When consideration is given to the vast influence for good which the Pope exerts over the lives of millions of people in all parts of the civilized world, and of his great potentialities in the cause of peace and the betterment of international understanding, those of every faith may well unite in the hope, and belief, that Pius XII will continue to find inspiration in the career of the preceding Pius.

Newspapers In School.

CLYDE R. MILLER, secretary of the Institute for Propaganda Analysis, who knows a good deal about newspapers, told a group of educators the other day:

"We have a great deal of freedom for the press and radio, and that means we have some of the worst newspapers in the world and some of the best. I would put in every school in America the New York Herald-Tribune, the Christian Science Monitor, the New York Times and the Chicago Daily News."

A fifth paper belongs in the group. That is the local newspaper in every school community. Perhaps Mr. Miller took for granted the presence and use of the home town paper in any city's schools. At any rate, excellent use of such newspapers is already being made in many school systems.

In St. Joseph, Mo., for example, local newspapers are used in all social science classes and in many English classes. Pupils begin using them in elementary grades and continue through senior high school.

All this should be as good for the newspapers as it is for the students. The former acquire a growing group of intelligent readers while the children derive practical education in citizenship.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—It would be hard to find a time when there was more evidence of bewilderment over the agricultural problems than just now.

Even from the department of agriculture, which has pursued its crop control and soil conservation program unfalteringly, there come random intimations that confidence in the success of this effort is wavering. Three months ago the department was discussing with some enthusiasm a two-price system. The aim was to arrange for lower-income groups to buy their supplies for less and so attaining the utopian goal of feeding, clothing and sheltering everybody well, regardless of their income.

The plan boomeranged. The idea of a two-price system was especially alarming to merchants, who saw themselves competing with low-price government stores or something akin to them. The department hushed official discussion of it. Studies now are being pursued on a plan to permit low-cost delivery to lower-income groups without appearing to be exactly a two-price system. That plan is still in the hands of departmental committees.

Committees Stumped.

AGRICULTURE committees in house and senate are baffled. A special senate committee is conducting spasmodic hearings on the cost-of-production proposal which originated among mid-west farmers' associations Probably there is more support back of this plan than any one other before congress, but there is still far less than enough support to insure passage.

Most appalling to both sides are figures recently compiled by the Farm Security Administration. Those figures show that the government now has on hand $750,000,000 worth of goods, mostly cotton, which it has accepted as security for farm loans. The Hoover farm board, looked upon by this administration as an hysterical effort, had only $466,000,000 outstanding in such loans at its peak.

Of its outstanding loans, the department has $560,000,000 tied up in 11,200,000 bales of cotton. These government holdings represent virtually a full year's crop.

A major trouble with the system has been that it has pegged the price for world cotton, allowing foreign production to develop to an extent that U. S. exports have dropped 45 per cent below old time normals. Recently the United States has been seeking an international marketing agreement for wheat and cotton, with little success. Now there is serious talk of boldly entering a dumping war unless an international agreement can be reached.

That might knock the price down as low as five cents a pound, representing a loss of three to seven cents a pound on government holdings, as loans range from 8 to 12 cents.

Lee Has Suggestion.

THE latest cotton-wheat remedy is advanced by Senator Lee of Oklahoma, who has refined last year's McAdoo bill to win some support in congress. His proposal is a domestic allotment scheme under which each farmer would be given a quota of the country's actual need. For this part of his crop he would get $1.25 a bushel for wheat and 20 cents a pound for cotton. For anything he produced above this quota he would get only the world price.

Lee contends this would discourage farmers from growing excessive crops of cotton and wheat and at the same time take from the government's shoulders the business of handling the surplus. Both the domestic price-fixing and foreign dumping features of the proposal have brought criticism here but for lack of other "newer-and-better" plans it is getting attention

Best bet at present is that congress, for lack of agreement on any new plan, will simply crutch up the present farm legislation and pray for prosperity.

U. S. Actions Disturbing Abroad

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—It's rather astonishing to homebodies to listen to folks just back from Europe talk about the prospects of war—folks, that is, who circulate in high and influential quarters when abroad. There is a strange sameness to the story, which is that there is more concern about the United States applying the match to the powder barrel than any other country.

It is astonishing because nearly all the effort on this side of the water, if our leaders are to be believed, is stressed toward the end of keeping the United States out of war. That is what the neutrality law, and proposals to amend it, are all about. That is the essential purpose of the preparedness program—to make this country so strong no other nation would attack us.

As one listens to the returned travelers, however, and these travelers include a good many of our own diplomats, one gets quite a different angle on many developments. It all illustrates the extreme difficulty of avoiding giving any offense.

OF LATE most of the public discussion of this problem has revolved around the idea of fortifying, or not fortifying, the island of Guam. An air and naval base there, it is argued, would certainly be a threat against Japan. It is a simple enough answer to say that Japan never bothers what nation she may offend or threaten,—as witness the Panay incident; as witness her establishing a new base threatening French territory; as witness her shooting a British ambassador; as witness her cutting off British trade at Hongkong and threatening to close the open door of Chinese trade to everybody but herself.

But this is not a question of justice. It is a question of keeping out of war, and the point is that this is a tricky business. Japan believes, or would have us believe, that she regards the development of Guam as a direct threat against her. Well, imagine the reaction in Japan at the picketing by Chinese children in an American port of a ship loading scrap iron for Japan! And imagine what the Japanese think about a government that permits such a picket line! For of course such a thing as an American picket line, and the unwillingness of certain people (who in this case include the stevedores) to pass through one, and the merely casual interest which the police take in such a line, are utterly incomprehensible to Japan.

Imagine what they think in Russia about that Nazi meeting in New York City! And imagine what the Nazis think when they read their garbled versions of it and see some very misleading pictures!

FOR the last few months the German and Italian controlled press have been conducting a regular drive to inflame their peoples against President Roosevelt. It is carefully calculated, and directed as intensively as though the directors and copy writers were trying to sell a new brand of radio. And there is no really effective method of answering it. Of course no newspaper in either country can print the other side. And the Germans have gotten very adept indeed at blocking short-wave radio when there is something they do not want their people to hear. This "protection," of course, has been freely extended to Italy. As a matter of fact it was recently applied to prevent an important short-wave broadcast which this government was very anxious should be heard in South America!

Such a foundation of hate, carefully constructed, makes it easy to build the superstructure following some trifling incident, magnified beyond recognition by their propaganda machines.

What Government Takes.

When one buys two packs of cigarets for a quarter the Federal government takes 12 of the 25 cents he hands over the counter.

And that leaves 13 cents to be distributed among all the people who have contributed to the making and selling of those cigarets.

The Federal excise or internal revenue tax on a pack of cigarets is six cents—and that is more than the combined profit of farmer, warehouseman, manufacturer, wholesaler and retailer.

The tax stamp on the cigarets doesn't tell you that you are paying the government that amount, but you pay it just the same.

And that is only one of a multitude of concealed taxes that you pay, day in and day out, to make it easy for Federal, state and local governments to be extravagant and wasteful.—Detroit Free Press.

Needed Regulation for W. P. A.

By ERIK M. ERIKSSON
Professor of History
University of Southern California.

The legislation reducing the WPA appropriation by $150,000,000 is of great importance because it marks the first time in six years that congress has dared to defy the president in the matter of relief. Furthermore it is the first legislation which attempts to regulate in any way federal expenditures for relief. Ever since the New Deal began in 1933 "rubber stamp" congresses have obediently heeded the president's demands for enormous amounts to be expended as the executive and his advisers saw fit. The WPA itself, it might be well to recall, owes its existence solely to the president. Congress, the constitutional lawmaking agency, which is supposed to determine the nation's policies, has never directly approved the WPA and its multitude of activities such as the theater, art, writers' and education projects.

Unquestionably, the action of congress in cutting the WPA appropriation reflects the sentiments of the great majority of the American people. Nobody wishes to see anyone starve or suffer undue hardship. As long as relief has to be given, the majority apparently favor work relief even though it is more expensive than the dole. But the taxpayers have a right to expect value received for their money. Why should a WPA project cost two or three times as much as it would if carried out by a private contractor with employes receiving regular wages? A growing number of people are convinced that it is because WPA workers are too much afflicted with the notion that the world owes them a living and that there is no need for them to give efficient and honest service. The purpose of work relief is, as the WPA propagandists say, to preserve the morale and skills (if any) of the workers. But how can morale be preserved by the loafing tactics which are so typical of WPA projects?

Congress has made a beginning toward improvement of the WPA in several ways. By prohibiting relief payments to persons who refuse to accept private employment at the prevailing wages of the community, one important source of complaint may be eliminated. Every locality has its quota of persons who have refused to accept employment on farms, in households or in trades because they preferred to remain on WPA. Such a condition should never have been permitted. By curbing the political activities of the WPA the national legislature has begun the elimination of one of the worst evils in the organization. Preceding the 1936 and 1938 elections, the political activities of the WPA were notorious.

Congress has also made a start in promoting economy but the fight is not over. No sooner had the president signed the appropriation act than he again demanded in a special message, that an additional $150,000,000 be immediately appropriated for the WPA. The lawmakers, however, should be supported in their stand. Let the administration first faithfully administer the amount appropriated before demanding more money. Why not wait to see if there will be any emergency before voting another $150,000,000?

A Farmer's Diary

The Windmill Goes.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

OUR old windmill is not what it used to be. Its days of pride and power are past. Time was when it stood for progress, and its whirling span, thirty feet above the ground-level of the deep drilled well, meant running water at any time of day or night for animals or men. Now it runs continuously, erratically, meaninglessly, in the high March wind. Whenever a calm day comes, I shall take it down, and end its aged clatter for all time.

In years gone by almost every neighbor had a windpump on his lawn or at the barn. Some progressive farmers tried them above the comb of the barn roof, and had a mill inside to grind their feed, to turn the grindstone and the lathe, to buzz wood. But, as one old farmer put it, "There got to be so many that the wind didn't turn 'em all," and to wait for the wind to blow when stock were hungry or thirsty was hard on the farmer's temper.

Since electricity and efficient gasoline motors are not so expensive, only a few windmills remain in use about the community. The derricks, though, are left, to hold the aerial of a radio, a battery charger, or simply as a support for climbing vines. One that I saw is covered with bittersweet and deeprooted trumpet vines; another is wreathed in five-leaf ivy, and makes a glow of red in autumn.

MEANTIME our wheel goes on forever. When the wind stops long enough for a man to safely go up on to the circular platform beneath it and take it down, it will be a relief to our ears. For ever since one cold night weeks ago, when zero weather and high winds combined to tear loose the vane and send it crashing to the ground, our windmill has run wild. All through the night, now slow, now tearing at great speed—now screeching for grease, now wearily and complainingly going on without it—a man cannot lose the sound of it, not even in his dreams.

The derrick rods are bowed and bent, in places. But when the noisy wheel is gone, I shall let it stand, and plant some sturdy vine to make shade and beauty.

The Grief Racket.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

SORROW is sacred"—yes. But not when tears become a Racket . . . or a cowardly Hide-away!

It's hard to admit that such practices exist, so thoroughly have we been trained to respect and respond to suffering. Yet we've all known instances* where grief became a monstrous graft.

NO CRIME IN THE CALENDAR CAUSES AS MUCH MISERY TO INNOCENT BYSTANDERS AS CONTINUED SELF-INDULGENCE IN SORROW. NO CRIMINAL IS RESPONSIBLE FOR MORE WRECKAGE OF HUMAN HOPE AND HAPPINESS THAN THE SELF-CENTERED MOURNER. AS AN ALIBI FOR SELFISHNESS . . . AN EXCUSE FOR LAZINESS . . . AND A DEVICE FOR ATTRACTING ATTENTION, NOTHING CAN SURPASS A CHRONIC BROKEN HEART.

But it takes rare courage to expose this racket. Forthwith and forever, the reckless crusader is branded as a heartless monster. This dire prospect, however, hasn't deterred Eva Munson Ross, of Brooklyn, N. Y., from launching a long-needed campaign against Grief Grafters in general and those "Cemetery Addicts," in particular, who place their service to the dead above their duty to the living.

"OH, GRIEF, WHAT CRIMES ARE PERPETRATED IN THY NAME!" paraphrases Miss Ross. "It goes without saying that every decent person sympathizes deeply with sincere sorrow. But when sorrow is so protracted that it becomes a ruling obsession and causes neglect and often actual abuse of the living, it should be condemned like any other vicious habit.

"Consider the thousands, yes, millions of people, who have the 'cemetery habit.' Living children are neglected while one or both of their parents spend hours grieving over a lost darling . . . time, emotion and money are lavished on the dead which might mean joy and hope to lonely old folk and helpless shut-ins. I know of one case where a son's Sunday visits to his mother's grave broke off his marriage. His fiancee had shared and respected his grief at first, but as the years passed and their only hour of relaxation was sacrificed to this unbreakable ritual, she saw that it was hopeless and gave her heart to a man who was not already wedded to death. And the cases are countless of homes wrecked and husbands alienated by the continuous grieving of some self-centered wife.

"CAN THIS BE LOVE? SURELY LOVE SHOULD HAVE A WIDER EXPRESSION! THEN WHAT IS THIS IMPULSE THAT MAKES SO MANY OF US NEGLECT THE LIVING FOR THE DEAD?"

Eva Munson Ross
Brooklyn, N. Y.

Why do we neglect the living for the dead? Partly because it's much easier to get along with dead people than with living ones. Dead people can't make demands . . . living ones do. Also, grief provides a marvelous means of escape from life. Under any other circumstances, we would be sharply criticized if, through cowardice or laziness, we evaded our various responsibilities. But the heart-broken are immune to contempt . . . they possess a 100 per cent alibi.

Last, and meanest of all reasons: many prolong grief BECAUSE IT GIVES THEIR SHALLOW, SELFISH LIVES A DRAMATIC IMPORTANCE WHICH THEY WOULD OTHERWISE LACK. Such creatures use their tears to terrify their unfortunate families and friends into service and submission. And Miss Ross deserves a congressional medal for exposing them and their contemptible racket!

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—You like books by Charles G. Norris? Or Phillip Guedalla? You like Western Stories, or Weird Tales, or Short Stories? You like Somerset Maugham, or Sinclair Lewis, or Daphne Du Maurier, the English woman who wrote "Rebecca"?

There is a sector in Manhattan known as Rockefeller's 12 acres. That's Rockefeller Center, associated usually as a theatrical and broadcasting center.

But it is also probably the most important publishing center in the world. It would be impossible to estimate the millions of copies of magazines of every description, from pulp westerns to glazed architectural forums, that go out of here every week. Literally tons of literature is packed out by truck and placed on ships, trains and planes. One magazine's aggregate circulation alone is well over 10,000,000 copies a month. You add up the others and the total is so staggering as to be incredible.

IT IS from here that books by some of the world's most widely-read authors emanate. Edna Ferber, Hugh Walpole, Booth Tarkington, Rudyard Kipling, Phillip Gibbs, T. E. Lawrence, Kenneth Roberts ("Northwest Passage," etc.), and Selma Lagerlof are all authors whose books spread fanwise over the world from Mr. Rockefeller's 12 acres in Manhattan.

The curious point to all this publishing activity is that the routine observer sees very little of it. You pass through Rockefeller Center and you see shops and stores, broadcasting studios and newsreel theaters, and vast towering buildings in which all activities known to man are represented. But you see very little of the actual business of printing and binding books for delivery.

Most of this output is sped away from the Center in huge trucks through a gaping exit in West 50th street, between 5th and 6th avenue. They leave in steady caravans, and the traffic problem created by this is so intense that an officer is on duty at this one exit 24 hours a day.

Publishers, like ducks, are strange birds. They are migratory. Most of them used to be below 38th street, and many of them still are. But the last few years have witnessed the shift that has deposited them in this Center where Music Hall is and where these lines are being written.

* * *

IN THE old days almost all of the New York newspapers were on Park, and the street was known as Park Row. Next to Fleet street in London, it was the most famous publishing street in the world. But first one then another broke away, and now all are scattered over the city—some downtown, others in 42nd street and near East river. There are no New York newspapers published in Rockefeller Center, but the Associated Press is here and with it bureaus representing news agencies from every important country on the face of the earth. From here go lines and cables to London, Paris, Rome, Moscow, Berlin, Tokyo, Stockholm, Capetown, Sidney, Buenos Aires, Havana, Honolulu, and Cairo, carrying hundreds of thousands of words day and night.

That's what makes it possible, when anything happens anywhere in the world, for your local newspaper to have all the facts almost before the echo dies away.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Made Out of Whole Cloth."

It is a lie, a deception, a fake from start to finish; why do we say that it is made out of whole cloth?

This figure of speech springs from the lexicon of the arts.

In painting, the "cloth" is an allusion to the canvas upon which the picture is spread; and in the theater, the "cloth" may refer variously to the curtain which separates the auditorium from the stage, a scenic "drop," or a background of painted canvas.

A scene consisting only of such artificial environment, not supplemented by any honest-to-goodness accessories or furnishings came to be characterized as "all" or "whole cloth"—the same descriptive language being carried over to a tale, which like such a scene, is not real, but manufactured.

FELON CLASSES EDIT GLOSSARY OF 'STIR' TERMS

Compilers Haven't 'Gone Over the Blue Wall' So Story Can Be Taken as Factual.

(By United Press)

PAINESVILLE — A man in "stir" knows it does not matter if he "kisses the bricks" once he has "gone over the blue wall"—or, in non-prison parlance, a prisoner after going insane no longer cares whether he is released.

These expressions are included in dictionaries of prison slang compiled by English composition classes at southern Michigan's state prison, at Jackson, under the guidance of Prof. Howard G. Baker. Baker, now associate professor of English at Lake Erie college, in Painesville, conducted the prison classes when he was a member of the University of Michigan's English department.

Prison slang varies somewhat according to geographical differences, but the expression "the blue wall" is common in several regions, Baker found. It signifies the "imaginary dividing line between sanity and insanity, and when a prison inmate loses his mind he is said to have "gone over the blue wall," one of the dictionaries explains.

Insanity Well Covered.

Other expressions indicating that a prisoner is insane, or near insanity, are: "blow one's top" and "stir simple," "stir crazy" or "stir bugs." The latter three phrases are applied to those who minds have become distorted by long confinement.

Many "stir slang" expressions have passed into general language usage and their origin almost has been forgotten. Here are a few such terms:

"On the pan" (being slandered), "snow" (narcotics), "scram and blow" (get out) and "muscle in" (encroach on someone else's territory).

The lesser-known expressions, however, seem the most picturesque to the person who is not "stir-wise" (who has not been in prison).

If such a person would go to prison he would be classified as "fresh meat" or "fish." He might be fortunate and get a "hot minute" (short term); then again he might have to "do the book" (a life sentence).

The dictionaries are specific in describing the exact lengths of a man's prison term. One year is an "ace," two years a "deuce," five years a "fin," and 20 years is "ten-spot" or "saw." A term, in general, is "a bit" or "a jolt" or (a more widely known word) "a rap." A man is "on a bum rap" when he has been sentenced for a crime which he did not commit.

"Roll-Over" Happy Event.

The happiest time of a man-in-stir's life is the "roll-over"—the night before he is released from custody. Before the "roll-over" at Jackson prison he has to "see the man," or have an interview with the parole commissioner. He is given a "flop," if he is refused parole.

Escape from prison alive is "taking it on the Arthur," but death in an escape is a "back-door parole."

PEACH SAPLING PROVED ROBUST

Woman Plants Seedling, It Develops Unusual Variety.

ONTARIO, Calif.—(AP)—In 1932 Mrs C. C. Barnes bought and planted what she thought was an ordinary peach sapling. She was amazed when, in an off season, it budded well ahead of schedule and bore a fine crop of fruit.

Realizing she "had something," Mrs Barnes has taken and cultivated saplings from the original tree with conspicuous success in getting early and heavy crops. Many acres in various ranches are now planted with offspring of the freak specimen.

Walking Urged to Gain Back Poise When Irritated

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa.—(AP) Next time you "get hot under the collar," just take a walk.

That's the advice of Jill Edwards, "personality expert" In a lecture before Westminster college students here, Miss Edwards said substitutions—not self control—is the answer to the problem of bringing rampant emotions under control.

Taking up the subject of social poise and inferiority complexes, she asserted that mastery of one social accomplishment is the key to a likeable personality. "Become an authority on books, politics, foreign affairs or music—something to make people respect you," Miss Edwards advised

For those who would acquire a "radiant personality," she listed seven qualifications, as follows:

'Above all, live valiantly; learn something new every day; do something about your health, appearance and diction, take life lightly, not too seriously, be gracious to others, acquire an appreciation for beauty, and realize there is force in the world greater than man"

Renewed Policy Argument Stalls Vote on Arms Bill

JOHNSON HITS POSSIBILITY OF ENTANGLEMENT

Administration Critics Keep Up Fight But Eventual Passage Is Predicted.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Renewal of the congressional argument over American foreign policy, climaxed by an appeal of Senator Johnson (R., Cal.) against European entanglements, served today to delay a senate vote on the $358,000,000 army expansion bill.

Although everyone conceded eventual approval of the defense measure, by a wide margin, Democratic lieutenants were having a hard time in trying to end floor discussion.

Even Senator Johnson, who criticized administration foreign policy yesterday in a speech reminiscent of his attacks on the League of Nations, said he was supporting the major provisions of the army.

Hits Roosevelt Stand.

Senator Logan (D., Ky.) had declared that American neutrality legislation had encouraged Germany, Italy and Japan, the white-haired Johnson rose and faced his colleagues.

Urging senators to guard against "insidious propaganda" which might lead to a war, he read with obvious disapproval President Roosevelt's recent statement that there were methods short of war in combatting aggressor nations.

His voice rising, Johnson cried: "That could mean only one thing: sanctions—sanctions! The favorite word of the League of Nations people, some of whom even yet infest this government.

"Why, I'd rather see my grandson go out with a gun on his shoulder and take his chances and fight than impose sanctions on the halt, the lame and the blind, on the helpless and the innocent."

Clark Scores Ickes.

Senator Clark (D., Mo.), another critic of administration views on foreign affairs, entered the debate to assert that Secretary Ickes had indulged in "Billingsgate" against some nations with which the United States is at peace.

He also contended that Chairman Pittman (D., Nev.) of the senate foreign relations committee had made provocative statements.

The house, meanwhile, continued debate on the annual war department appropriation bill, providing nearly $500,000,000 for the army's largest peacetime budget.

There was talk in the house military committee of a proposal that the United States barter war materials with other countries, giving them munitions and supplies in return for essential raw material not found here. Herbert Feis, economic advisor to the state department, suggested that terms might be worked out by which such materials could be furnished this country as payment on war debts.

The contract calls for the delivery of the car completely equipped with bullet-proof windshield, and gun port, pullet-proof radiator screen, five heavy duty tires, spotlight, heater and two defrosters.

It also calls for the transfer of radio receiver and transmitter now in use in the cruiser accepted by Moorhead.

Tears Coat Escaping Officer, Forges Check To Get Another

An alleged check forger whose overcoat was torn during a fight with Detective Lee J. Remy, Wednesday night as the officer sought to arrest him, today had left another bogus check in his wake—for the purchase of a new coat.

Remy took up the trail of his six-foot assailant who escaped during the scuffle and uncovered the torn overcoat yesterday in a second residence the suspect had rented a room.

The detective found the man had passed the bogus check for the purchase of a new overcoat at the Montgomery Ward company store.

J. L. Huff, 116 Bowman street, who told the detective he rented a room Wednesday to the man who had given the name of Harold Davis, also had a check for $9 drawn on the Richland Trust company. Remy said that the bank reported the check, bearing the same signature as two others which had been reported Wednesday, was a forgery.

No baggage was found at either of the rooms the suspect had rented and officers today were of the opinion that he had fled the city after making the purchase of the coat.

Wednesday C. D. Bell, proprietor of the Bell Music store, reported that he had received a check for $25.70 in payment for a radio he had sold the man. The other check, for $6 had been given to Mrs. C. R. Smeltzer, 331 West Fourth street, from whom the alleged check forger had rented a room.

It was when Remy went to the Smeltzer home to arrest the man that he was beaten. The officer's assailant escaped after dragging Remy to the porch.

SUES ESTATE FOR $22,349

Mansfielder Charges He Was Promised Part of Foster Father's Property.

Properties in Mansfield and Bloomninggrove and Springfield townships are involved in two damage suits for a total of $24,849 on file today in common pleas court.

Contending that he was deprived of his share of the property of the late J. H. Craig, his foster father, J. Harry Craig, Mansfield, asks $22,349 judgment against the estate of Mrs. Minnie Craig Neff, deceased, young Craig's mother.

Craig contends that although he was promised a portion of the estate at the death of Mrs. Neff, no provisions for him were made in her will. Mrs. Neff died last May.

The plaintiff asks $9,729 as his share of the receipts from the sale of six acres of land in Plymouth township and part of a lot at 113 West Third street. The remaining $12,260 represents rentals from the properties which should have gone to him, Craig asserts.

In another suit, Sherman Kissel asks $2,500 damages for losses he allegedly sustained when he was forced to move from a 113-acre farm in Bloominggrove township last July.

Naming Alice Maring and Mary Lutz defendants, Kissel contends he had a lease on the farm which did not expire until October, 1938, and that he was dispossessed after the property was sold in a partition action.

He asks damages to cover the loss of crops on the farm and losses from the forced sale of livestock.

LIFER ENVIED

Convict, 72, Lives Ungarded Near Idaho Prison.

BOISE, Idaho,—(NEA)—Harry Orchard is the envy of all inmates in the Idaho State Penitentiary. Orchard, who has served 32 years of a life imprisonment sentence for the assassination of Governor Frank Steunberg, is a trusty assigned to the supervision of the prison poultry farm. He lives outside the prison walls, unguarded in a little cabin that overlooks the penitentiary grounds. He will be 72 years old in March.

Guard California Town After 2,000 Unionists Battle

LUMBERJACKS WRECK CIO'S HEADQUARTERS

Human Flying Wedge Shatters Flimsy Structure; Crowd Batters It to Pieces.

(By International News Service)

WESTWOOD, Cal. — Every available peace officer hurried to Westwood today as fears of further rioting arose. The powder-keg of A. F. of L.-CIO rivalry exploded for the second time in nine months and sent 2,000 unionists into pitched battles which ended early today in the streets of this little company-owned lumber town.

For nearly 24 hours cursing, slugging, reeling lumbermen locked in sporadic combats ranging from two-man fist fights to battles royal in which hundreds participated.

At their sides, like modern amazons, stood their screaming womenfolk. When the battling subsided early this morning, 20 persons had been injured and two arrested. None of those hurt were in serious condition, as only a few makeshift weapons were in evidence during the minature war. The rugged backwoods men preferred to fight it out in their time honored custom, with fists—and sometimes boots.

Wreck Headquarters.

Climax of the rioting came late yesterday when 500 A. F. of L. men drove a flying wedge at the flimsy wooden CIO headquarters, only a few minutes after deputy sheriffs had rescued 25 men, women and children who had taken refuge in the structure.

The A. F. of L. men pushed the 16-by-24-foot building off its foundation into the middle of the street, where the crowd pounced upon it and vented its pent-up feelings by reducing it to matchwood.

Combat began after a large crowd gathered outside a justice of the peace courtroom where Earl Shannon, A. F. of L. business agent, was being arraigned on charges of disturbing the peace.

He pleaded not guilty and was released on his own recognizance. Cheers greeted his appearance on the courtroom steps—and then it happened. A rash statement from someone in the crowd or a muttered threat and more than 200 men and women joined in bitter fighting—fighting which had been forecast for many weeks because of trigger tempers aroused by the inter-union dispute.

Only two peace officers were on hand when the rioting began, a deputy sheriff and the town's lone constable. Aided by officials of both unions, they pleaded with the crowd to disperse, but they were ignored.

The fighting lasted for half an hour and was resumed intermittently for several hours.

Girl, 13, Brutally Slain, Police To Quiz 100 Workers

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—Officers prepared to question 100 relief workers today in search of clues to the brutal garroting and bludgeoning of Haseleen Black, slender 13-year-old junior high school girl.

The relief workers labored in a park across the street from the brick cottage in which the girl's body, clad in pink pajamas and a blue housecoat, was found.

Detective Capt. Charles Ryan said he hoped to find a lead to three men who neighboring housewives saw near the girl's home.

Her blood-stained hands, a bloody towel and blood on a bookcase doorknob gave evidence of a desperate attempt to fight off her attacker.

Dr. John Roddy, a city physician, said examination showed "no evidence of rape." He said the girl was struck 22 crushing blows on the head.

DIES IN SOUTH

He is survived by two sons, Dr. Philip Elliott of Nashville, Tenn., and Donald of Florida, and three grandchildren.

Up and Down THE STREET

The police department's "cycle patrol," like anything else, gains in efficiency with experience. When it was first established, the motorcycle and sidecar had to stop every time a car was chalked, but now, after several weeks' experience, Patrolman George Yoakum who alternates with Patrolman Howard Schuck in the sidecar, says he can mark a tire "on the fly," and Patrolman Clare Kyler, who operates the motorcycle, can cover a whole block without stopping.

In an effort to keep Mansfield "on the map" at Ohio State university, three Mansfield students, members of Delta Upsilon fraternity, recently organized a "college edition" of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce on the campus. The organization was started by Paul Flohr, chapter president, James Richardson, chapter secretary and publicity chairman, and Truman Clark, who is pledged to the fraternity. According to Richardson, their aims are "to promote the best interests of the old home town."

After several weeks of comparative quiet, the courthouse yesterday became the center of activity in the city. With the grand jury session as the major interest, there was a divorce hearing just across the hall in the morning and a farm meeting in the afternoon. Downstairs, two tax collections were bringing scores of persons to the building, and across the street the annual trustees meeting was held at the First M. E. church.

Professional men of Mansfield, as a group, are just about the best table tennis players in the city. They proved it last night at the Y. M. C. A. when they figured prominently in the annual city tournament. Dr. Clarence Hien and Dr. Dwight Weir reached the singles finals. Then the two went out and won the doubles championship. A majority of the entries in the tournament were doctors, dentists and lawyers.

The thief who took a package of pamphlets on the care of fruit trees from County Agent George B. Ganard's car last Saturday wasn't interested in fruit production after all. Found along Park avenue west where they apparently had been discarded by the thief, the booklets were turned over to police and then to Ganyard yesterday.

Miller, chairman of the organization committee, reported the starting of troops at Hedges and Bowman schools. At this meeting Mrs. A. W. Meihack was appointed to attend the area camp conference at Bellevue, March 13.

STORM ABATES, RESCUE NEARS

150 Aboard Leaking Sealing Ship to Be Taken Off by Vessels Standing By.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK—Hopes for the rescue of the 150 men aboard the badly leaking Canadian sealing ship Ranger south of the Newfoundland coast were strengthened today as the gale which sent huge waves dashing over the deck of the ancient wooden vessel abated.

The sturdy British freighter, Newfoundland, and another sealing ship, the Imogene, were standing by the Ranger. With the coming of daylight they were expected either to assist the ill-fated Ranger into shelter or remove the large crew of seal hunters who have already spent two terror-stricken nights aboard the ship desperately bailing out the water with buckets and any available receptacles.

Earlier radio reports that the Newfoundland had taken off 18 men from the Ranger before rescue operations were halted by the rough seas were later disputed. Latest reports were that all 150 men were still aboard the Ranger.

Heavily stocked with provisions, the Ranger, a 161-foot ship of 520 tons built 67 years ago, was one of the first to sail for seal hunting.

3RD SUICIDE IN 3 WEEKS

UPPER SANDUSKY—(INS)—Ira Rowland, 65-year-old retired farmer, took his own life with a .32 calibre revolver at his home today. The Wyandot county coroner, who returned a verdict of suicide, blamed ill health. It was the third suicide here within three weeks.

OPERATIONS OF REVAMPED UCC TO FORM TEST FOR BRICKER

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Persons properly appointed under the civil service law to positions in the unemployment compensation bureau will remain "unbothered," Gov. John W. Bricker promised today.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Gov. John W. Bricker's administration took over today operation of Ohio's $100,000,000 unemployment compensation system, starting a test of the executive's contention that a one-man administration would provide more efficient and economical service.

Taking the controls in the $7,500-a-year administrator's job was 36-year-old Herschel C. Atkinson of Akron, former newspaperman and chamber of commerce executive.

Working with him is a board of review, composed of Verner E. Metcalf of Marietta, Walter J. Mackey of Canton and W. T. Roberts of Bridgeport.

Their appointments were confirmed late yesterday by the Ohio senate, thus making operative the first major item in the Republican administration's reorganization program.

The old unemployment compensation commission, controlled by the Democratic appointees of former Gov. Martin L. Davey, went out of existence. On it were Mackey, Roberts and Keith Lawrence of Cleveland.

Warily watching the function of the new arrangement were spokesmen for labor, who strongly opposed the reorganization.

"The enemies of the system are now in complete control," declared Rep. W. H. Whetro (D-Lawrence), an organizer for the A. F. of L. who criticized the appointment of Atkinson.

He described the choice of the new administrator, who was executive manager of the Akron Chamber of Commerce for the last two years, as "part of a well planned scheme of sabotage against unemployment compensation."

Whetro asserted that Ohio Chamber of Commerce had fought the establishment of unemployment insurance and that now the system was in the control of men "who can see only the employers' point of view."

FOUND IN WOODS

Body of Butler Man Returned From Pittsburgh.

The body of Frank Bowman, 65, of Butler, found hanging in a woods near Pittsburgh, Pa., yesterday was brought back to Butler today for burial.

Bowman, who had lived with a sister, Mrs. J. F. Bumpus, left Butler Wednesday afternoon, without telling anyone where he was going.

Thursday morning, some men riding in a truck near Pittsburgh saw a body hanging from a tree about 40 feet from the road. They summoned authorities who identified the body as that of Bowman, who had formerly been employed by a Pittsburgh coal company. After losing his job he returned to Butler to make his home with his sister. A suicide verdict was returned by Pittsburgh authorities.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday at the Bumpus home. Rev. H. T. Wintermute will officiate and burial will be in Bunker Hill cemetery.

Beside his sister, Bowman is survived by a brother, C. F. Bowman, Mansfield.

STROKE FATAL TO JOHN M. HAY

Ashland County Farmer, 69, Had Been Ill for Seven Weeks.

LOUDONVILLE—John M. Hay, 69, died this morning at his home southwest of here in Hanover township, as the result of a stroke suffered seven weeks ago.

Adjutant David Brown of the Mansfield Salvation Army received notice today that he had been promoted to the rank of major.

Major Brown came to Mansfield from Patterson, N. J., five years ago. He has been identified with the Army for 15 years, the minimum length of service for a major's commission.

MEASURE LOSES 10TH FIGHT AS MINERS LOOK ON

Threats of Retaliation by Kentucky and West Virginia Feared by Assembly.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Coal miners' long-sought goal of a law to require all public institutions to use only Ohio-mined coal was buried today under an avalanche of negative votes in the Ohio legislature.

While several hundred persons from coal-producing counties looked on and the bill's advocates thundered that both major parties had pledged themselves to support it last fall, the house of representatives yesterday defeated the measue, 42 yes to 63 no.

It was the 10th consecutive beating for the "Burn-Ohio-Coal" movement, since similar bills have appeared 10 times before the general assembly.

Dems Join G. O. P.

With 69 favorable votes required for passage, 31 Republicans and 11 Democrats voted "yes" while 55 Republicans and eight Democrats were opposed. Nearly one-fourth of the house members—14 Republicans and 17 Democrats—failed to express themselves but the record did not show how many of them were present.

Threats of retaliation from Gov. A. B. Chandler of Kentucky and by the West Virginia legislature, together with predictions by opponents that passage would start an inter-state race to set up trade barriers, apparently swung the majority against the bill.

Supporters of the bill contended its enactment would mean employment for 5,000 Ohio miners now idle.

Three hours of heated debate and two attempts to scuttle the measure by amendments preceded the final vote.

Charges by Rep. Walter F. Brehm, Hocking county Republican, that the Appalachian coal interests of Cincinnati were alone responsible for opposition to the bill brought from Rep. William H. Deddens, Cincinnati Republican, the retort that a lobbyist for an Ohio coal firm spent "large sums" trying to promote the measure.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Pegler Considers Unique Night Owl Club as Feature of New York World Fair

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—If I were fixing to set a trap at the New York World's Fair, I would call it police headquarters, stick a couple of those green lights out in front and try to get enjoined by the mayor or the police commissioner.

Maybe they would seize me for impersonating a police station, and, if so, I would get some loud, cheap lawyer to habeas corpus the joint. The publicity would put me over for one season, which would be enough.

We would have no cuff in our plant. We would be strictly sleeveless, and all the debs, both male and female, the broken-down society tramps of both sexes, the tablecloth authors and playwrights, the men-about-town and the whole class of moochers of the night side of New York would be barred.

We would announce that all customers would have to lift their weight, and that would scare them off, but just for a gag we would get up circulars of all the celebrities who are commonly mentioned in the columns dealing with saloon society, using their pictures wherever possible, and hang them on the walls of headquarters, offering a reward of $50 for proof that any one of them ever bought a drink. That would be a safe offer.

Their kind of trade brings publicity, to be sure, but what good is publicity if the free-loaders shove the cash customers off into the alcoves or crowd them out entirely? I just don't see how some of our night side operators get by with the mooching that goes on today.

The scion trade, the bum society trade and the celebrity trade all create a large bundle of clippings in the course of a year, but I am not Mr. Zero and you can have that business. I will take the tourist and the honest local yokel out for 10 bucks' worth of Saturday night.

I would treat them all right, too. I wouldn't kid anybody. I would announce that our regular $1.50 dinner could probably be duplicated for from 35 to 50 cents in any one of a thousand beaneries around town and admit that the margin was the jailer's graft or lug—a familiar practice in most American institutions of this kind.

I took a friend into Jack White's place one night and when this friend ordered scrambled eggs about 1 in the morning there was the damnedest row in the kitchen that you ever did hear. The cook and the dishwasher poked their heads in to see what the guy looked like who was ordering food, and when the eggs finally came, the busboy was two jumps ahead of the waiter with a whole tray of bicarb, bromo, bismuth and chewing gum.

I hear we have a place in town called the Chez Fire House, but the police station would top that. For my part, I have always wanted one of those comfortable police sergeant's chairs, canted somewhat back, with big side arms. We would have that kind of chairs all around. We would have a desk inside the entrance with a sergeant on duty in uniform to formally book the customers before turning them over to the turnkeys to be ushered to their cells. Naturally, they wouldn't have to give their square names, and, of course, we wouldn't search them unless that became necessary along toward closing time.

I don't see why we couldn't call our joint police headquarters. After all, how many Lido Goldfarbs have there been in this country and Rivieras and Versailleses and Villa Venices and White Houses and palaces? What about the Macfadden-Deauville and the Dempsey-Vanderbilt?

What is so sacred about the name of police headquarters?

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

"Wife, Husband and Friend." Screen play by Nunnally Johnson from novel by James M. Cain. Directed by Gregory Ratoff. Cast: Loretta Young, Warner Baxter, Binnie Barnes, Cesar Romero, J. Edward Bromberg, George Barbier, Eugene Pallette, Helen Westley.

Actor Ratoff's first wholly successful job of direction shows his flair for neatly turned, light and frothy comedy. The story of a business man (Baxter) whose wife (Young) aspires to a singing career has abundant sparkle in situation and dialogue, and Ratoff's direction misses no tricks.

The wife really can't sing. The husband, who doesn't care about singing really can but doesn't know it. The friend, a concert singer with amorous designs (Barnes) discovers the husband's voice and persuades him to use it in counter-offensive on his wife. When the latter is beaten down—after two flop appearances in public—the husband is ready to withdraw from his musical career. But he too gets his—in very funny sequences showing his operatic debut.

The whole is pungent satire, with just enough broad comedy, on socialites who dabble in the arts. It's Baxter's best opportunity in years, and he rediscovers himself as a light comedian.

"King of the Turf." Screen play by George Bruce. Directed by Alfred E. Green. Cast: Adolphe Menjou, Roger Daniel, Dolores Costello, Walter Abel, Alan Dinehart.

If you went for "The Champ" and for the more recent "Stablemates" you'll go for this one. It's about the down-and-out racing king who's regenerated by a kid and who, thus spurred, climbs again to success. For added emotional fillip "King of the Turf" elaborates the plot by having the kid turn out to be really the king's own son, a runaway from his mother and her second husband. Then, to top it off, the turf lord has to make the worshipping boy despise him—for his own good—and this he does after the big race sequence, which is plenty exciting.

Menjou is excellent as usual, but the big note of freshness is supplied by able young Daniel as the clean-cut, natural-acting son. Least fortunate sequences are those of mother and father (Costello and Abel) wondering where is their wandering boy tonight. The talented Abel, especially, is crucified by dialogue the banality of which is seldom equalled.

"The Three Musketeers." Screen play by M. M. Mussolman, William A. Drake and Sam Hellman. Directed by Allan Dwan. Cast: Don Ameche, the Ritz Brothers, Binnie Barnes, Lionel Atwill, Gloria Stuart, Pauline Moore, Joseph Schildkraut.

It's a musical comedy version of the Dumas novel, with accent on music and comedy. The Ritzes as kitchen helpers masquerade as musketeers, and thus are forced to aid in the exploits of D'Artagnan in the matter of the queen's brooch.

Ameche's D'Artagnan is spirited and likable, and the music (by Sam Pokrass and Walter Bullock) is catchy. The Ritzes, instead of dominating the screen, emerge at strategic moments with gratifying zaniness, and in consequence they're better than their recent films lead one to expect. Best offering: their cymbal dance.

There's enough of the story, including the chase, to justify the title, and the musical comedy vein is never forgotten. Supporting players make the most of the necessarily limited assignments.

Bankrupt Domestic Happiness

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

"My wife is thrifty about everything, except our domestic happiness. She'll walk five blocks to save two cents on a loaf of bread. And she'll form part of the shock troops in a bargain-counter rush any day of the week. But she has never brought this saving quality into our regard for each other.

"We were married when we were 17 and 19 years of age. We loved as only early youth can love. In those first months, when my wife hid away my books, papers, objected to my playing the piano, she seemed 'cute.'

"Later, she seemed to hate my enjoyment of anything—books, plays, games, friends, music. Things that interested me were poison to her. She wanted to talk, and had nothing to talk about."

I read this man's letter, expecting to hear the usual raptures of a soul mate he had discovered. But if there is one in the offing, he didn't mention her. His disappointment is that his wife made no attempt to share his tastes. She was a person who resented moving out of a groove. A spiritual bankrupt—the world is full of them.

The thriftlessness of not putting something by for a spiritually rainy day is not confined to wives. Husbands are the same reckless speculators, when it comes to the reserve bank of domestic happiness.

One of the reasons that high school boys and girls are not willing to settle down is that they haven't had their fling. Their feet ache to dance. Their unmarried friends going to parties, while they worry about the rent, is an affront they're apt to blame on each other. Spiritual values become a bore. Why should they try to cultivate congenial tastes when there is always Reno?

And then you come across the beautiful exception: Youngsters who have made a go of it, who are saving for the new home, and who are sure there never was such a baby in the world as their baby. One sees them on a Sunday outing, and one's faith in human nature is restored.

Acclaim Women Cooks

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

BRAVO, BRAVO and then again bravo! At the recent career-women's cooking contest the committee, all of 'em male, voted that the offorts of the ladies surpassed those of the men who performed in a similar contest held last December. So even if the men cooks are the highest paid in the world, and if some bachelors are famous for their salads or desserts, we gals can still whip up a handsome meal and earn a handsome salary besides.

The judges, including eminent chefs of the town, stated that so far as they were concerned, women were the best amateur cooks. Thyra Sampter Winslow, the famous short story writer, novelist and scenarist, won the competition with a Bouillabaise, Winslow Style, so good that the French chefs insisted that she had learned the dish in Marseilles. But Miss Winslow was able to tell them that she had never even been in Marseilles.

Bouillabaise, Winslow Style, calls for six pounds medium firm fish, assorted kinds, none too strong, two pounds shrimps (canned or fresh-boiled), three lobsters (canned or fresh), two cans of tomatoes or 12 large tomatoes, slices of thick bread or buttered toast, 12 tablespoons olive oil, six to ten onions, one lemon, six cups fish stock or material for fish stock, flour, two green peppers, good pinch of saffron, six cloves of garlic, parsley, thyme, powdered bay leaf, ground allspice, salt, pepper, cayenne to taste. Make a stock of the fish heads and ends. Flavor with salt, pepper and additional onions. Strain. Add the tomatoes. Cook together to thicken a little. Put aside. Chop onions and green peppers. Put in a pot with olive oil, and simmer until all the onions are beginning to turn yellow.

Mix Ingredients.

Mix the chopped garlic, the spices, salt and pepper together. Add flour and mix well. Rub each piece of fish with this mixture till well coated. Lay carefully on the onions, which have already started to cook but are not brown. Cover and let cook for a few minutes. Turn the fish carefully, stirring the onions so they will not burn and cook a little longer. Add the tomatoes and soup stock. Mix the saffron with a little stock, and add it. Put in cooked shrimps and lobster cut into pieces. Let boil a few minutes. Here Miss Winslow added a pint of dry white wine, and the sliced lemon. Let come to a boil. Put a piece of bread into each serving dish or put a layer of bread on bottom of big serving dish. Put the fish on the bread and pour over the sauce. Serve hot.

Coffee Frappe, another prize-winner, calls for two cups strong, freshly-brewed coffee, one-fourth cup cream, one-fourth cup powdered sugar, one-fourth teaspoon ground ginger and one egg white. Place all ingredients and some cracked ice in beverage shaker and shake well; or beat all ingredients together with an egg beater, and let stand in refrigerator to chill.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I STRAIGHTENED abruptly as Philip Veritzen's deep voice sounded what I felt was the real reason for the long story he was telling me of his youth in the far-away country of Transvania.

"Did you see Her Majesty when she was here upon that royal tour several years ago?" he asked.

"The time when Olina ran away and came down to the eastern end of the Island incognito?" I asked with a bit of malice tinging the inquiry.

"Yes, that was the time. Did you see her?"

"I did not get a good look at her," I returned. "But I know that regal was the one word to describe her."

"Yes, that is the right word to describe her carriage," he said. "But if you did not get a good view of her face you can have no idea how beautiful she was, even in her maturity.

"Now it is tragic the way she has aged. It hurts me to look at her and see no trace, except her eyes, of the breath-takingly beautiful girl who first came into my life, when I was a young officer of the guard at the palace in Transvania.

"There are not words enough in the language to describe fittingly to you the beauty which Olga possessed when she was young. Olina is a beautiful girl, but compared to her mother she is like a faint star beside the full moon. And now—there is nothing left except her eyes."

"Her eyes pierced my heart the first time I saw her," he went on, and for the first time since he had left pathos behind and chanted the saga of his unhappy childhood I felt the stir of cynicism.

"She was a distant relative of the queen, Rudolph's mother," he went on. "You know how all European royalty is related. And when she first came to visit the court, there was no hint that she was being considered in any other light than a welcome guest. She and Marie, Rudolph's younger sister, a shy colt of a girl, and Rudolph and I were always together in our leisure hours, playing tennis, riding, walking and dancing in the evening with other young people of the court.

"At no time was Rudolph attracted to her," Philip Veritzen went on. "I knew his secret. Even as my father, he was wildly in love with a young actress whose presence would not be permitted at court. I think he was afraid his name might be linked with Olga's, and when we were together he left me with her, and devoted himself to his young sister."

Mirror Teaches Much

By MME. QUI VIVE

We can't always believe what we see in the looking glass. Some are flattering and some make us look as if we'd been drawn through a knot hole. For the sake of your heart's contentment select a mirror with care. Get the best. It will be a long time with you. You and it will commune together many a time each day.

When regarding our reflections we are bound to see defects exaggerated. A light down on the rosy cheek may throw a woman into a state of despair, yet other eyes may never see it. A tiny mole looms up as a frightful blemish; others may consider it a piquant beauty spot. Wrinkles and pouches under the eyes are always worse. They're bad enough, goodness knows, but never as bad as they are on that other self in the mirror.

The full-length triple mirror is worth its weight in something or other. Women who haven't one never see themselves whole, just piecemeal. When they are trying on a new frock in a shop, taking themselves in from hat feather to heels, they may have a terrible jolt, observing figure defects that have crept up on them while they weren't looking. They may be surprised to find that posture isn't anything to brag about.

The tape measure gives a report of inches and the bath room scales total up pounds and ounces, but only the mirror reveals outline, grace or lack of it. And they're what count most. The heavyweight who carried herself beautifully has more chic and manner than the skinny little slimp whose shoulders double over her chest and whose back bone lacks ginger.

Truly we should do a little crystal gazing. No woman should be so rushed with duties that she can't take inventory now and then of details of appearance. Let her, like a business person, list her assets and liabilities. Let her regard teeth, complexion, hair, eyebrows and lashes, the condition of her throat, the lines of her figure. Whatever doesn't qualify can be corrected, it is likely, or at least put in better condition.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

YOU ARE DULY WARNED

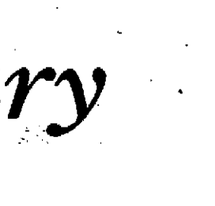
YOU HAVE NO excuse for kicking about the hard luck of finding bunched trumps against you, if the bidding of one opponent has advertised to you the length of his partner's holding.

That is just what he has done if he has made bids of three other suits. At the most he can have only one trump himself, and he is more likely to have none if he has bid the other suits in irregular order. In that case, he probably has five cards of his first bid and four each in the others.



(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

A bid of 1-Club by West started the suit-showing on this deal. After two passes, South doubled, whereupon West bid 1-Heart, North 1-Spade, South 2-Spades and West 3-Diamonds. This bid should have made it clear to North that West, an accurate shower of his suit lengths, had five clubs and four each of his other suits, so that he was completely void in spades. Whatever spades were out against North, East had them all. North, however, bid 3-Spades and East doubled, counting on his powerful partner to pick off a lot of side tricks and also to be able to double any takeout.

This contract was defeated two tricks, for a very bad score to North and South, and a very good one to East and West. At another table of the same tournament, the bidding went exactly the same up to the point of West's 3-Diamond bid, whereupon the opponents passed and managed to set that contract a trick.

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer, North. East-West vulnerable).

Why should a bid of clubs along the way by South discourage North from going to a slam in hearts, instead of encouraging him?

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, March 4.

Another day of surprise and adventure, with things stirring under high pressure and with unforeseen developments, is read from the lunar and mutual aspects. New and important projects are under excellent stimuli for aggressive action, with initiative, creative energies and decisive propositions claiming the hearty support of those able to assist in promotion and with necessary capital.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of an extremely lively and enterprising year, in which important projects may be pushed with aggressive measures and with the support of those able to capitalize and promote.

A child born on this day may be talented, aggressive, determined and definitely ambitious. Its constructive abilities, in many channels of expression, should attract attention from high places.
